Local Holiday Inn plans huge expansion

By May of 1980, the Holiday Inn with 246 rooms will surpass the 212 rooms and 10 suites of the Hilton Airport Inn and become the largest motel in the Detroit

Metro Airport complex. Groundbreaking was held Tuesday (yesterday) afternoon for the huge expansion that will see 91 rooms added to the motel's current 155 room capacity and a 14,288 square foot Holidome featuring a 75-foot-high waterfall. Also included in the expansion will be a putting green, sauna bath, whirlpool, exercise area, new restaurant and lounge, game room, and new banquet facilities seating 300 persons. The Holidome, a popular new facility installed at Holiday Inn locations in many parts of the nation, will boast a heated indoor swimming pool in addition to the previously mentioned facilities.

Currently, the Holiday Inn at Metro has a heated outdoor swimming pool. Innkeeper at the Holiday Inn is Jerry O'Meara Jr.

168 Single-family residences

New housing complex for Romulus

Within the next two years, 168 single-family residences will hopefully be built in a new neighborhood complex in the southeast section of Romulus by a Southfield firm.

G & K Homes will construct four types of houses - bi-level, tri-level, three-bedroom colonials and four-bedroom colonials - at a cost ranging from the upper 40 thousand to the upper 50 thousand level.

The developers, John Goodman and Curt Kime, will construct the houses on 60x115 foot lots in an area already fully equipped with paved streets and curbs, underground utilities, with city sewers, water and gas.

The two developers recently completed a luxury-type neighborhood called Chatham Hills in Farmington.

Goodman said by Labor day this year, three models will be open to the Romulus public. He provides the marketing and financial expertise for G & K. Kime, a graduate architect from the University of Michigan, supplies the building experience for the Southfield firm.

"Our objective is to build good-looking homes that work," Goodman said.

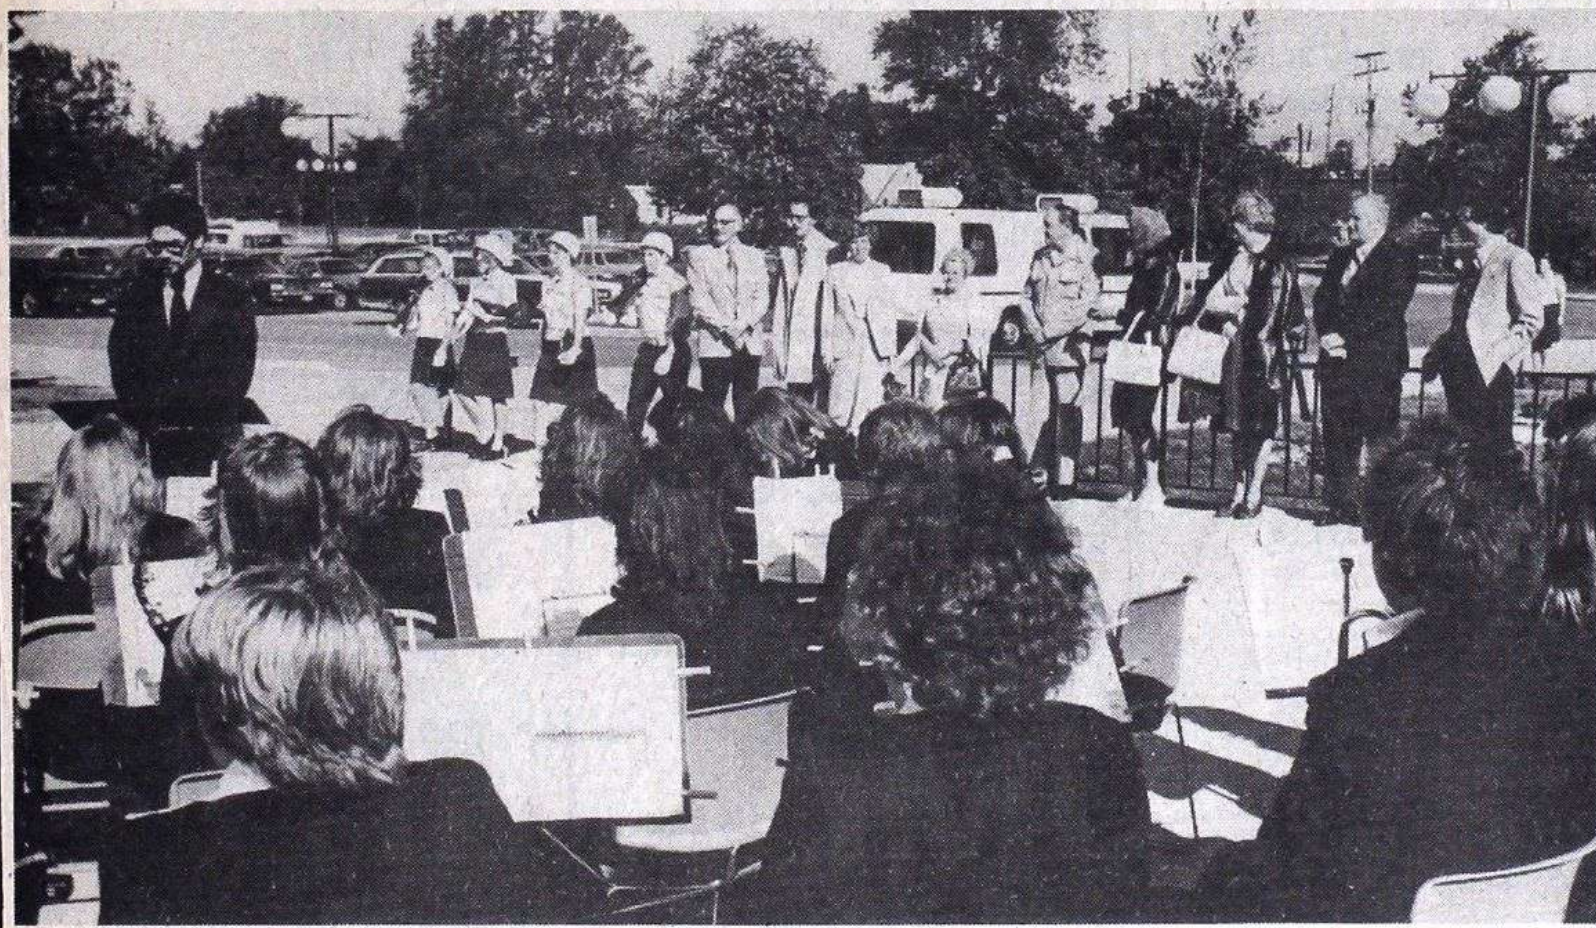

The new Romulus neighborhood of residential houses has yet to be named, Goodman explained. The colonials will all have basements and all four types will have a bath and a half, he added. Family rooms and attached garages are standard in some models and optional in others.

Size of the various residences will run from 1,000 to 1,500 square feet in area.

Lower Huron park will charge visitors

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Beginning on Memorial Day, May 28, area residents visiting Lower Huron Metropark will have to pay for motor vehicle stickers or permits at toll booths placed at four entrances to the park's interior.

However, George Giblin, park superintendent, said motorists can still traverse the five-mile-length of the main park road from Hannan Road to Waltz Road free of charge.

Fees to be charged at the four toll booths are: one-day permit - $2; annual sticker - $7; and senior citizen annual sticker - $2.

Giblin said the decision of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) to charge for using Lower Huron Metropark would place it in the same category as nine other parks operated by the authority. He said the fee for motor vehicle stickers has been in existence in other parks for several years and conforms to fees paid in state parks.

Location of the four toll booths will be: Bemis, Savage roads area; swimming pool entrance on the west side of the main park road; Tulip Tree picnic area; and the East Bend picnic area.

Lower Huron Metropark consists of approximately 1,200 acres of park land along the Huron River, offering such activities as Par 3 golfing, swimming, hiking and picnicking.

The swimming pool at Lower Huron Metropark is open from Memorial Day through Labor Day and users are assessed a nominal fee for bathhouse and coin lockers.

Golfers are charged $2.50 during the week and $3 on weekends, with a 50-cent rental fee for clubs, at the Par 3 golf course. Senior citizens can use the course for only a $1 fee.

Other facilities available at Lower Huron Metropark are: food service, court games such as basketball and shuffleboard, tot lot, nature trails, group camping, picnicking, and ice skating.

Currently, residents of a five county area - Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, Macomb and Livingston - are assessed a quarter-mill levy to maintain the 10 parks operated by the HCMA.

Some residents have complained that they do not feel they should have to pay for the upkeep of park land used by persons coming from outside the five-county area and therefore object to the motor vehicle fee being charged to them.

34 Checks stolen from VB township

Several checks totalling several thousand dollars have been cashed illegally by someone who made off with a total of 34 blank township checks from the bookkeeping room at Van Buren Township Hall sometime between April 1 and April 11.

Sup. Pat Cullin said the Wayne County Sheriff's Department is working on the case and would welcome information from anyone with knowledge of the missing blank green checks, all of which have Van Buren Township printed on them.

Mrs. Cullin said she had been told that several checks had been cashed and that the total would amount to several thousand dollars.

She said Richard G. James, township attorney, informed her that the township would not be held responsible for the amount of the cashed checks. Rather, he said, the bank cashing the illegally made out checks would have to bear the loss.

Tries to bypass gates

Driver killed instantly as train hits truck

A truck driver was killed instantly Monday morning when his vehicle was struck by a freight train at the Norfolk & Western Railroad crossing on Haggerty Road between the I-94 Expressway and Huron River Drive.

According to Det. Gerald Murphy of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the truck driver apparently tried to go around the crossing barriers while they were down.

Identity of the truck driver had to be established by a check of the deceased's fingerprints, Murphy said. He was identified as Kenneth W. Bennett, 32, of Niles, Mich.

The accident, which occurred at 8:32 a.m., took place when the truck driver, who was northbound on Haggerty Road, swung into the southbound lane to veer around the crossing gates, the detective said. "At this point, he evidently saw the oncoming westbound freight and tried to cut his truck sharply to the left," Murphy explained, "but he was too late."

Investigation disclosed that the train's engineer saw the truck driver hurtled through the truck's windshield from the impact of the crash and then run over by his own vehicle. Murphy said the 70-car freight was traveling about 30 miles per hour and carried the smashed truck another 150-175 feet down the tracks.

He said the truck was owned by Freight Carriers, Dearborn, a private hauler of steel.

Two witnesses told Det. Murphy and Det. Ray Allen that the crossing barriers were completely down, while two other witnesses said they were positioned at about 45-degree angle.

Two witnesses said the flashing lights were on and the warning bells sounding at the time of the accident. However, two other witnesses said they were "not sure", Murphy said.

The Enterprise has learned that area residents have complained about the crossing barriers at the Haggerty Road crossing malfunctioning on many occasions. Motorists who tire of waiting when no train appears pull around the barriers and continue on their way, it was reported.

Murphy said the crossing was "a lonely area" and that he would not be surprised if the barriers were not working properly.

"One of our off-duty officers also was a witness and said the gates were down and the lights and bells were working at the time of the crash," he said. The policemen told Murphy and Allen he saw the truck start to go around the crossing barriers before it was struck by the train.

For students who work

Some basic advice: Make sure to get that pay

For students starting summer jobs, a basic piece of advice is that when working for pay you must make sure you get that pay — everything you're entitled to.

That is one of the suggestions the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) offers young people who may be unfamiliar with the rules and procedures that apply to gainful employment.

THE CPAs say a pay stub ordinarily will account for anything withheld from your pay, such as taxes, insurance, Social Security, union dues and other obligations.

Check the accuracy and appropriateness of such withholdings, then save the stub for probable future uses.

The 1979 minimum wage is $2.90 an hour, but are summer workers eligible to receive that amount?

In most cases, yes. Under certain circumstances an employer can get U.S. Labor Department permission to pay as many as six student workers a $2.46 minimum. But unless the employer has formally applied for such permission and attested that the hiring of students will not cause the displacement of full-time workers, the $2.90 minimum applies.

If your job is just for the summer, chances are you won't owe any income taxes, for a person can make up to $2,950 in a year without incurring tax obligations. In fact, if your income will be under $2,950, and your unearned income — from interest, dividends and the like — will total less than $750, you can avoid having income tax withheld from your pay and having to file a tax return. Simply obtain a form W4E, which your employer should be able to provide, fill it out and give it to him. That will authorize him to forego income tax withholding. It won't prevent him from withholding

Social Security contributions, however. There's no avoiding that.

(Incidentally, the CPAs advise, most employers must have your Social Security number before they can put you on the payroll, so if you don't already have one, apply for it right away. You'll find the nearest Social Security office listed in the phone book under U.S. Government.)

If you failed to file a Form W4E and taxes were withheld from your paycheck in excess of what you may owe, you will have to file a tax return to obtain a refund after the year ends. There is no way to get the money back until then.

When young people begin working, some parents are fearful that their own taxable income will be increased. This is not the case. Each individual is considered a taxpayer in his or her own right. What your earnings can do, though, is affect your status as your parents' dependent. So long as you are under 19, or a full-time student (at least five months a year) and your parents provide more than half your total support, they can continue to claim you as an exemption.

If there is likelihood that your income will be substantial enough to threaten your status as a dependent, the CPAs suggest that some thought be given to what you buy for yourself and what your parents buy for you, with your expenditures being concentrated on items not regarded as support for tax purposes. Fortunately, savings are not considered to be support. Your parents might want to begin collecting information that will show that their contribution to your support is greater than your own.

If much of what you earn will go for your future education, and thus will not be needed for a year or more, be sure the money is kept busy in the meantime earning interest or dividends. Also, be aware that longer-term accounts usually earn more than demand deposits, from which the money can be withdrawn at a moment's notice.

If your folks have set up an education account or investment fund for you, perhaps that would be the best place for you, too, to park your education savings. And if Dad and Mother are in a high tax bracket they might want to consider putting their fund in your name, so you can pay any income taxes on its earnings at your much lower tax rate.

The CPAs have one further suggestion for those whose working careers are just beginning. When you examine your paycheck stub and note all those amounts taken out, and learn how much less than expected your net pay is, don't despair. Try to adjust to the bad news right from the start.

Finishes 'basic'

Fred Collier of the Sumpter Township Volunteer Fire Department holds his certificate, indicating he successfully completed the basic training program at Oakwood Hospital as an ambulance emergency medical technician. Sharing the joy of graduation with him were his children — Fred, 12, Hila, 11, and Angel, 8 — and instructor coordinators, Dan West (back row, left) and Charles Haragly, Oakwood assistant administrator and course coordinator Audrey Seay, and John Hubinger of the Emergency Medical Services Division of the Michigan Department of Public Health. Leslie Powell, also of the Sumpter Fire Department, was unable to attend the graduation ceremonies to receive his certificate.

Miss Shipp gains DCB scholarship

Cynthia Shipp of Romulus Senior High School was one of eight high school seniors from the area to receive the Detroit College of Business - Dearborn Governing Board Scholarship for the 1979-80 academic year.

The scholarship will cover Miss Shipp's entire tuition and registrations for the school year.

To qualify, she had to have at least a cumulative 3.5 grade point average, enroll in a 4-year bachelor of science program, major in accounting, accounting-data processing, data processing, management, marketing or office administration, and enroll in day college as a full-time student.

ARE YOU AWARE

Of What a Christian Really Is?

Webster says a Christian is one professing, or belonging to Christianity.

With this definition, taken as broadly as it seems at first, one can understand why we, the U.S.A. and other nations, are called Christian nations. But simply professing or belonging to Christianity does not make one a Bible Christian.

Acts 11:26*—The disciples were first called Christians at Antioch.

The disciples were called Christians because they were not only followers of Christ but were Christlike.

In the words of Paul:

Philippians 4:4—Rejoice in the Lord always. I will say it again: Rejoice! V. 5—Let your gentleness be evident to all. The Lord is near. V. 6—Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. V. 7—And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus. V. 8—Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable—if anything is excellent or praiseworthy—think about such things. V. 9—Whatever you have learned or received or heard from me, or seen in me—put it into practice, and the God of Peace will be with you.

With such exhortations in mind, one begins to realize that to be a Christian becomes so much more than simply professing to be, or belonging to a Christian organization.

Now just as any good exercise program must be adhered to, for physical fitness, so must the same, as stated here, be devoutly followed to keep the Christian Christlike.

VB Bd. stand gets support

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A ray of light has appeared at the end of the dark tunnel in which the Van Buren Township Board found itself when it stuck to its guns recently in defying a judge's order and ended up being jailed twice for contempt.

New support has surfaced for the board's stand in refusing to approve an agreement which would have allowed a sewer hookup to the nearby Ypsilanti sewage system for a mobile home park developer.

Dawn Phillips, an attorney hired to assist Richard G. James, township legal counsel, on the case, has told Sup. Pat Cullin about a recent state Supreme Court ruling in two cases which closely parallel the Van Buren incident.

The two cases are ED ZAAGMAN, INC. vs CITY OF KENTWOOD and TURKISH vs CITY OF WARREN.

Citing the factors involved in the second case, Mrs. Phillips has filed new information with the Court of Appeals on the township's application in March for leave to appeal a ruling by Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman ordering the township board to approve the sewer connection.

In a summary of the facts of the Turkish case which she forwarded to Mrs. Cullin, she noted: "In discussing the relief available in a zoning case, the Court in TURKISH emphasizes the duty of the trial court not to impinge upon the legislative function of the municipality in fashioning the relief to be accorded in zoning cases."

Judge Kaufman on March 8, 1973 had rezoned a 102-acre tract owned by the mobile home park developers from residential to mobile home development for 91 acres and commercial for the remaining 11 acres. By doing so, the township board said he had allowed the developers to bypass the normal township procedures for rezoning.

Mrs. Phillips, who formerly served as the township's attorney, said the Supreme Court's March 27 ruling in the two cases cited would mean that Judge Kaufman would have to refer the zoning for the mobile home park developers back to the township for its consideration.

After the township has acted upon the zoning request from the mobile home park developers, the trial court can determine the validity of the zoning classification, but cannot tell the township what it must do from that point on, Mrs. Phillips said in her interpretation of the ruling.

"Nowhere does the court (Supreme Court) state or even infer that the trial court has the ability or the duty to order the municipality as part of the relief obtainable in a zoning case to abdicate its legislative function and to issue all permits or approvals in connection with the development of the property in question nor to assist the plaintiff in obtaining sewage disposal facilities nor to provide for any relief of the nature afforded to plaintiffs herein," her written report to Cullin stated.

In the new information which has come to light since the township filed for application for leave to appeal Judge Kaufman's decision, Mrs. Phillips asked the trial court to vacate its ruling of Oct. 17, 1978.

"By ordering the township to grant all permits and approvals required by plaintiffs and in particular by entering the order of Oct. 17, the court has gone beyond the remedial powers of the trial court in a zoning case as delineated in TURKISH. Therefore, the order of Oct. 17 must be vacated," she requested of the appeals court.

She also told Cullin that the TURKISH ruling handed down by the Supreme Court is to be accorded limited retroactive effect commenced and now pending in either the trial or appellate courts.

In laymen's language, the Supreme Court's recent ruling means that a trial court has no business usurping the functions of a legislative body such as the Van Buren Township Board in matters such as a zoning request. All it legally can do is to review the township's action and ask that it be reconsidered, at which point the trial court can again review the zoning decision.

The Van Buren Township Board was jailed for one day Dec. 28 of last year and again for a week beginning on March 2 of this year for contempt of court for failing to obey Judge Kaufman's order.

The board cited increased pollution to already-contaminated Belleville Lake and its duty to abide by an existing agreement with neighboring communities on sewage disposal.

Open house for student project

Romulus High School's vocational education building trade's students, instructors and administrators announce the open house Sunday, June 3, of their third model in a series of houses on Tyler Road. Begun by the class of '78 and completed by the class of '79 under the supervision of their instructors Steve Rausch and Terry Bird, the house is a striking example of the skills of the building trades students. Tyler III, as it is called by the students, is a brick-aluminum quad-level home featuring 2,010 square feet of living space including three bedrooms, 2½ baths, full basement, family room with fireplace, and attached two-car garage. Custom features are numerous — furniture-finish wood kitchen cabinets, wood insulated glass sliding doorwall, double hung insulated wood windows, in-sink garbage disposal, 6" ceiling insulation, 3½" wall insulation, 40-gallon gas hot water heater, forced-air gas heat, ceramic tile floor in bath and much more.

Sumpter offers home grants

Staff members of the Farmers Home Administration in Lansing will be available from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., May 24, and 31, at Sumpter Township Hall to assist residents with applications for home repair loans and grants.

According to Sup. Robert K. Demski, repair loans and grants generally may be used to remove health hazards by repairing roofs, providing a sanitary water disposal system, installing water taps, replacing septic tank systems, installing screens, window and insulation, and other action to make homes safe.

He stressed that an applicant's income is the key to the type of assistance for which he or she is eligible. Grants, however, are made only to low-income homeowners who are 62 years of age or older.

If an applicant's income is so low as to permit only removal of health and safety hazards, a repair loan and-or grant may be available, the supervisor said. For families with somewhat higher incomes, a home improvement loan may be possible to bring their houses up to FHA minimum property standards, he added.

How would you like to learn to dance? Belleville's unique disco, Paddles, is offering free dance lessons on Monday nights from 9 P.M. - 10 P.M. and from 11 P.M. - 12 midnight.

Scott Johnson and his assistant, Tina, professional instructors will be giving the lessons throughout the summer. After one month of lessons a dance contest will be held at Paddles. First, second, and third place couples will be awarded prizes and given a chance to compete in a regional contest to be held at Oscar's disco in Southfield.

I visited Paddles on Monday evening and talked with several patrons. Here is what they had to say... Cheri, 31, lives in Ypsilanti and goes to Paddles every night. Cheri said, "I like this club, it has a great atmosphere, the employees are nice and friendly, I enjoy the people I meet." Cheri is planning to take the dance lessons she feels its the latest thing and she wants to keep in style.

Lynn, 21, lives in Belleville, is a fitness supervisor and goes to Paddles to meet dance partners.

She loves the dance floor and can't wait to start dancing when she arrives. Lynn said, "I am really excited about taking the dance lessons they should be fantastic!"

Buddy, 34, lives at Lemontree and usually goes to Paddles two or three times a week to get together with friends. Buddy said the place is convenient, its like a second home, just a super place to be.

Tom, 32, works for a Ypsilanti Newspaper and frequents Paddles four nights a week. According to Tom, "I like the people especially the good looking girls! The atmosphere is comfortable and the drinks are the right price. Paddles is the most dynamic thing to happen to Belleville. Lemontree course ready for golfers

By KIM KNIIVILA

Spring has finally made it to southeastern Michigan. By now, the spring cleaning should be done, the garage swept and the lawn mowed. The time has come to get the golf clubs out of storage and head on out to the course.

To get moving again and get the kinks out of your game, the Lemontree Golf Course is open and ready for business. The driving range is now open daily. A bucket of balls costs $1.75. Residents of Lemontree and senior citizens are offered the same low rates on the range before 2:00 p.m.

Gordie Sullens, the golf pro at Lemontree will again be giving lessons. Sullens, one of the younger pros in the state of Michigan just broke the course record by two strokes. The new record now stands at 67. Private lessons are by appointment only and are $8.00 per half hour of instruction.

Sullens, who grew up in the Belleville area, is pleased with the results of his ground crew. "The golf course is in superb shape," he commented.

Lemontree Golf Course has a few other attractive features other than the condition of the course. "We have the lowest green fees in the area," says Sullens. "In the pro shop we carry a full line of pro merchandise for any golfing needs."

The green fees are $3.00 for nine holes and $5.50 for eighteen holes before 2:00 p.m. on weekdays. After 2:00 p.m. on weekdays the fee is $4.50 and $6.50.

On weekends the prices are $5.00 and $8.00 for non-residents. Electric carts to get you around are $3.00 for nine holes during the week and $4.00 for nine holes on the weekend.

For those golfers who are interested in tournament play, Lemontree will be having a Scrambles Tournament on Saturday, June 16. There is a $10.00 entry fee for the event. Tee time is set for 9:00 a.m. and it will be a shotgun start. Entry deadline is June 14.

The course at Lemontree is open daily to the public for their golfing pleasure. For more information call golf pro Gordie Sullens at 699-2800. Happy Golfing!

You asked for it, members

Recently, S.I.C.C. sent out questionnaires asking its members for suggestions, comments and reactions to club programs and facilities.

The information we gathered indicated that members were interested in having more lessons for beginners and intermediates as well as more club and league activities. Taking these suggestions to heart, SICC has put these ideas into action and as a result a number of new programs are already underway.

More daytime demonstrations clinics have been set up for beginners and intermediates with plans that are more elaborate and refined than before. These lessons are specifically designed for each skill level and training is conducted by our club instructors who can teach as well as play. Groups are kept small for optimum instruction and skill development.

Students can expect to learn as much about the game as they desire and can end their classes with an opportunity to continue on in a league, lesson or tournament play. Demonstrations and drills are used frequently throughout the clinics to enhance and reinforce the lessons. Generally, these group lesson programs cost $20, which includes 5 weeks of instructions and the court fees.

Other Club activities will also be on the upswing: Members will see an increase in Aerobics, Dancercise, Trim and Tone, Acrobatics, Jogging, and in clubs where Fitness Centers are available, Strength classes.

There will also be more parties for our members since you requested that we sponsor more social activities.

In general, there'll be more lessons, more leagues and more general activities. Members will be using their clubs with greater versatility, while SICC will strive to offer viable programs for people who enjoy good friends, good health, and good racquetball.

So, if you find a friendly voice on your phone from SICC, please remember that it's our way of responding to your requests to plan more activities for you.

MUSKAL NOTES
by Doug Brown
Percussion instruments are the most widely used instrument of African origin and include common drums and an instrument called the sansa. Drums are used to send messages, for ceremonies of all sorts, and for fun and entertainment. Xylophones, which originated in Indonesia, are generally made of wood or bamboo and range in size from small to large that two or more people play. Sansa is usually made of metal tongues anchored at one end over a sounding box, so that the sound reverberates when they are struck.

Whatever your musical ability, whatever your musical needs DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 has just the right instrument for you. We invite you to come in and visit with our experienced salespeople who are always ready to help you solve your musical problems. Watch for our occasional specials, Master Charge, Visa and local bank financing available.

MUSIC TIP:
The best seat at a small concert would be to have the piano on the stage a bit to your right.

Three children perish in early morning blaze

Mother and two sons escape injury

The tragedy

Fire destroyed the inside of this Westland home last week, claiming the lives of three children who had been sleeping in upstairs bedrooms of the house. The mother and two other children escaped by crawling out a hallway window and onto the porch roof. It was just over a year ago that another fire tragedy, just one block away from this home on Missaukee, claimed the lives of three children in a fire. — Photo by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

Picking up the pieces

Westland fire fighters spent last Tuesday searching through the charred inside of the home at 32764 Missaukee looking for clues as to the origin of the blaze that killed three children. Looking over the room where the fire appears to have started were Assistant Chief Fire

ANP Staff Writer

Three children died early May 15 as their home on Missaukee Court in Westland was swept by fire. Their mother, and her two other children, escaped from the smoke-filled house by jumping from their upstairs bedrooms onto a porch roof and to the ground.

The tragedy occurred in the home of Wynona and Robert Stabenow, 32762 Missaukee. Stabenow was at work at the time of the blaze, according to reports.

Dead are Charles, 14, Lois, 13 and John, 10. They were asleep in upstairs bedrooms and were found by fire fighters in their beds, apparent victims of smoke inhalation.

The mother and two other children, Robert, Jr., 15, and Jason, 2, escaped after being alerted by a smoke detector at the top of the stairway on the south side of the home.

The alarm came into the Westland Fire Department at 4:15 a.m. Records show that the first truck, responding from Station No. 3, arrived at 4:17 a.m.

By that time, the fire was well in progress, and smoke and flames were pouring from the windows. Fire fighters from Station No. 1 also responded.

The house originally was built as a duplex, with identical 2-story units side by side. The family had made the structure into one large house, cutting a doorway upstairs and downstairs between the two sides, but two separate stairways, leading to the upper floor, remained. The family apparently was doing some remodeling work on the north half of the house.

Fire officials said the blaze apparently started in the lower level living room in that north half of the home. Smoke enveloped the downstairs and crept up the stairway. The three children who died were sleeping in the bedrooms in that half of the house. There was no smoke detector found on that side, fire officials said.

By the time the smoke seeped into the south side of the house and the smoke detector at the top of that southern staircase went off, super heated air and smoke apparently had filled the upstairs of the north part of the home.

Drive's redbuds blossom

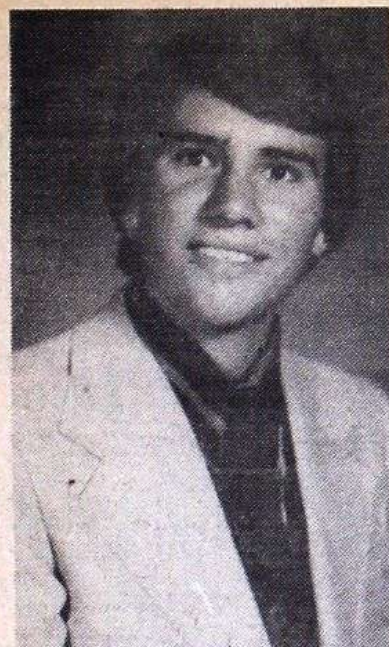

Colorful redbuds are in bloom along the parkway at Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville.

George Giblin, park superintendent, said these leguminous American Judas trees bearing small pink flowers grow in abundance along five miles of parkway and — are in full bloom this week.

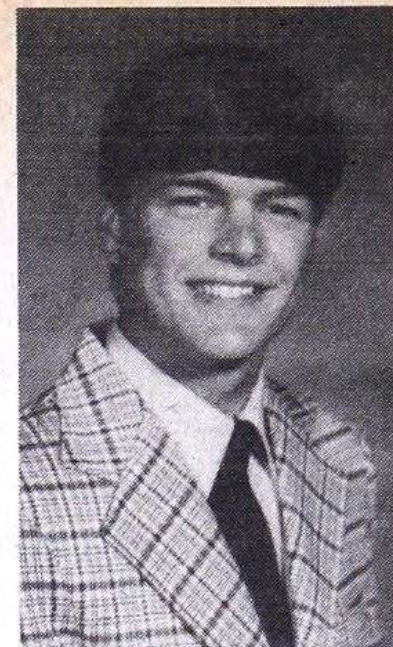

The Paw Paw and Bob White nature trails are open for self-guided hikes and wildlife is labelled for easy identification.

The park entrance is on Hannan Road, half mile south of Huron River Drive, via the Haggerty Road interchange along the I-94 Freeway between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Belleville.

For additional details contact Lower Huron Metropark at 697-9181 (Belleville). Vehicle entry permits — annual regular, $7; senior citizen, $2, or daily, $2 — are required.

TALKING TURKEY

The one place to go where you can see famous historical sights, beautiful scenic sights, exotic rites, exciting nights, and prices that are really right is Turkey.

That country, set on two continents and four seas, has ancient ruins and relics from the Neolithic Age 9,000 years ago, the Greeks, Romans, early Christians, Moslems and Crusaders. It has snow-capped mountains for you to ski on and miles of beaches for you to enjoy including the crystal-clear waters of the Aegean Sea, the Black, or the Mediterranean. It has charming fishing villages and modern cities with luxury hotels and swinging night clubs. It has bazaars where you can buy, at amazing prices, hand-embroidered silks, soft sheepskins coats, gleaming gold jewelry and ornaments, painstakingly wrought meershaum pipes and myriad of other beautiful, useful and unusual things. Don't worry about enough selection. Istanbul has the biggest bazaar in the world — 5,000 covered shops full of super bargains.

AAA predicts Memorial Day travel record

Approximately 77 percent of Michigan service stations along major tourist arteries and 48 percent in the Detroit area plan to operate during the Memorial Day holiday to serve motorists expected to log a record 722 million miles in the state, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Auto Club's survey of 300 outstate stations showed 230 planning to operate. The remaining 70 were uncommitted, citing the uncertainty of gasoline supplies.

Forty-eight of 100 Detroit-area stations checked plan to operate. The other 52 also were uncertain because of the gasoline situation. Last year, motorists set a record of 720 million miles traveled on Michigan roads during the 78-hour Memorial Day weekend.

"Early indications point to another travel record in 1979," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. He predicts a mileage increase of .3 percent over last year. Department of State Highways and Transportation figures for the first three months of 1979 show a 6 percent increase in statewide travel over a year ago.

The Memorial Day weekend is the year's first big travel weekend, and Auto Club urges drivers to use extra caution on Michigan roads to help continue the downward trend of traffic deaths for this holiday. Last Memorial Day, 25 persons were killed on state highways compared to 31 in 1977 and 34 in 1976.

Alcohol was a major factor in last year's Memorial Day weekend deaths, with 55 percent of the 22 at-fault drivers either known or suspected to have been drinking. Approximately 60 percent of the fatal mishaps occurred within 25 miles of drivers' homes.

For the 15th consecutive year, Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will provide hourly traffic and tourism bulletins to 160 Michigan radio stations. The service, designed to aid motorists, will operate from 3 to 11 p.m. Friday and from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Hours for the 230 outstate stations planning to operate are:

Friday — 100 percent open daylight hours, 45 percent after 9 p.m. and 14 percent after 12 midnight. Saturday — 100 percent open daylight hours, 43 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after 12 midnight. Sunday — 73 percent open daylight hours, 37 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after 12 midnight.

Monday — 88 percent open daylight hours, 40 percent after 9 p.m. and 13 percent after 12 midnight. Hours for the 48 Detroit-area stations planning to operate are:

Friday — 100 percent open daylight hours, 46 percent after p.m. and 27 percent after 12 midnight. Saturday — 83 percent open daylight hours, 38 percent after 9 p.m. and 25 percent after 12 midnight. Sunday — 52 percent open daylight hours, 35 percent after 9 p.m. and 29 percent after 12 midnight.

Monday — 54 percent open daylight hours, 35 percent after 9 p.m. and 23 percent after 12 midnight.

Metroparks ready for holiday crowds

Three Western Wayne County Huron Clinton metroparks are ready for the unofficial start of summer — this Memorial Day weekend.

Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville has 1,200 acres traversed by a scenic highway and featuring an 18-hole Par 3 golf course, nature trails, several large picnic areas with tables, stoves and shelters, playgrounds, shuffleboard courts, tot lot, food service, bathhouse and swimming pool.

Swimming hours are 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Charges are 50 cents per person and cover heated showers and use of the bathhouse. (Patrons are required to shower before entering the pool.)

Coin-operated lockers for checking clothing cost 25 cents. The pool will be open from Saturday through Labor Day, Sept. 3.

Picnic groups of 50 or more persons are requested to register in advance at the park office. The park entrance is located on Hannan Road, a half mile south of the I-94 Expressway. Park hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. For further information call 697-9181.

The 1,525-acre Willow Metropark, located between Flat Rock and New Boston, has numerous park roads, several large picnic areas with tables, stoves and shelters, playgrounds, wooded areas, shore fishing and an 18-hole golf course. The park also features 10 shuffleboard, two tennis and four basketball courts, a large tot lot and food service at the central plaza area, plus an Olympic-sized swimming pool and bathhouse.

Swimming hours at 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. The charge is 50 cents per person, and includes heated showers and use of the bathhouse. Coin-operated clothes lockers are available.

A new outdoor dance center will open on June 29, which starts a summer weekend dance program — square dancing on Friday nights, ballroom dancing to Detroit-name orchestras on Saturday nights and disco dancing on Sunday nights.

For details call the metropark at 697-9181.

Oakwoods Metropark is located 5 miles northwest of Flat Rock on 1,770 acres. It provides a 350-acre interpretive area, including a nature center building, seasonal exhibits and several nature trails, labelled for self-guided hikes from 8 a.m. to dusk.

The nature center is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and from 1 to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. The site also has a few picnic areas, sanitary facilities and shore fishing.

For information on the interpretive area call 782-1255 (Flat Rock) or on the park facilities call 697-9181.

Metropark vehicle entry permits are required and cost $7 for regular annual permits, $2 for senior citizen permits and $2 for daily permits.

Stress classes planned

Physicians, psychologists, counselors and others in the helping professions are talking about the need for the management of stress and stress related to disease.

The Family Living Education Program of Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne County is coordinating an evening seminar on the topics of "Management of Stress and Stress Related to Disease" and "Coping as a Single Parent" at 8 p.m. next Thursday (May 31) at the First United Presbyterian Church of Dearborn, 600 N. Brady.

The charge is $2, and the program is open to the public. Pre-registration is recommended and can be completed by calling the extension office at 721-6565 or 563-2950. (Last-minute registration may be completed by phone, if space permits.)

"Accumulated effects of stress can hasten the aging process and damage your health," said Monica Rice Wendling, a practicing

Junior Scout Troop winds up busy year

Junior Girl Scout Troop 704 of Romulus is winding up a busy year that included a weekend at the new lodge at Crawford.

In working on their Active Citizen and My Community badges the troop visited the Romulus City Hall and 34th district Court May 17. The troop also completed requirements for Prints and Health Aid badges.

To complete their Dabbler and Outdoor Cook requirements, the troop will spend a weekend at an encampment with 300 other Scouts in Belleville next month.

They also will be participating with several thousand Huron Valley Council Scout members in the Girl Scout Games at Eastern Michigan University next month.

Troop 704 has purchased 200 seedlings with profits from the annual cookie sale. It will donate 100 crab apple and spruce seedlings that will be planted by students at Barth Elementary School, where the troop meets. The remainder of the seedlings will be planted in the Scouts' own yards.

As part of the statewide Clean Sweep cleanup campaign the troop picked up trash at the school. Scouts participating were Becky Carnes, Angel and Lisa Edwards, Crystal Harris, Marva Hopewell, Amy Marvicsin, Theresa Watson and Robyn Webb.

The troop leader is Jean Savage; the co-leaders are Valrie Carnes and Sandy Crout.

Westland municipal golf course debuts

If the warm weather has found you dusting off your golf clubs and practicing your putting in the yard, take note: the Westland municipal golf course is open!

The 9-hole par 34 course sets on 49 acres of land on the west side of Merriman Road, just south of Cherry Hill. The course is on land that was once the 18-hole Birch Hill Golf Course. That land was carved up into commercial parcels some five years ago, but the 49 acres was left as future site of a city-owned course.

The golf course is open for individual and league play now that the snow and ice storms seem to be definitely past. You can bring your own equipment, or rent whatever you need at the pro shop, located in the modern chalet-style club house on Merriman Road.

Not only are golf balls, gloves, clubs and carts available for rental, but the city has a fleet of 10 golf cars that make the trip from hole to hole a bit shorter.

The course and clubhouse were built by the Westland Building Authority, and are owned by the city. Revenues from the business will pay off the bonds that financed its construction.

The course is under the direction of the parks and recreation department, and the golf course manager is Carl Morton.

The attractive clubhouse includes a lounge snack shop, where food will be available to golfers or watchers. The Westland City Council just last week awarded the bid for the concession to Virginia Mathews, who also operates the food concession at the city's Multi-Purpose Arena.

The city and Ms. Mathews have also applied as co-licensees for a beer and wine (tavern) license for the clubhouse.

The course itself was designed by golf course architect William Newcomb, with the usual assortment of sand traps, four ponds, greens and fairways. One of the large ponds is the water reservoir that will be used to irrigate the course.

The city originally had hoped to open the course last summer, but ran into trouble finding underground water for irrigation. After drilling unsuccessfully for a natural underground water supply, the city eventually had to tap into the municipal water system.

The course still has some sparse spots, and some areas are roped off to give the grass seed a chance to grow and fill in, said Ralph Tack, director of the recreation department.

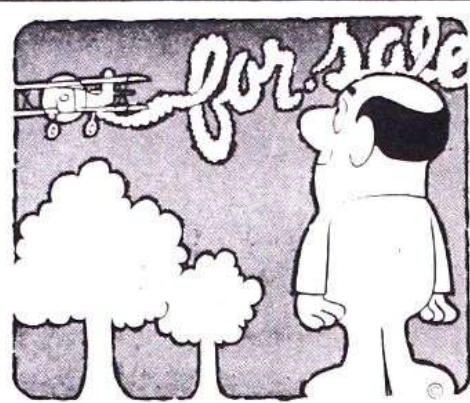

The first year will be one of "maturing" for the greens and fairways, he added.

Fees are the same for residents and non-residents. During the week, 9 holes of golf will cost you $3.75, and on weekends and holidays the price is $4.75. Golfers who begin at twilight get $1 knocked off the fee.

Special rates are available for senior citizens. Nine holes cost the older persons $2.25, but the seniors are not permitted to tee off after 2 p.m. Since most league play is in the later afternoon and early evening, individual play is encouraged during the morning and early afternoon. No senior citizen's rate is given on weekends or holidays.

Leagues still are being signed up to use the course. The recreation department even runs two women's leagues and is hoping to generate enough interest among young golfers to form a youth league.

The golf course phone number is 721-6660, for information on leagues or other details.

3 children perish in May 15 blaze

Fire officials guessed that the three children may very well have died from the heat and smoke by the time the fire alarm was even called in.

The mother managed to gather the two children sleeping in the bedroom next to hers and climb through the hall window, out onto the front porch roof.

A neighbor who called the fire department said she saw a passerby, later identified as James Daughterty, stop his van on Grand Traverse Road behind the house, run across the field and assist the mother and her two children off the roof.

He tried to get in the doors but they were apparently locked, the neighbor said, so he told the youngsters to jump off the roof and onto the ground. They were not injured.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation. However, fire fighters said it appeared that the north portion of the home had no electricity because of the remodeling, and there may have been wires crossing from one side of the house to the other for appliances. The State Fire Marshall was on the scene assisting Westland fire and police officials in investigating the origin of the blaze.

It was just over a year ago, on April 21, 1978, that three young children under 6 years of age died in a blaze in a similar duplex just one block away, on Montcalm. Those children, too, were trapped upstairs. They were the last fire fatalities in Westland.

Fire officials used this occasion to once again emphasize the importance of smoke detectors.

"If there had been a smoke detector on the other side (the north portion of the home) too, this may have been another story," said one fire official.

Because there were two stairways leading to sleeping areas, there should have been at least two detectors, according to city ordinance.

A city ordinance that took effect in March requires every dwelling unit to have smoke detectors. If you are a renter, the owner of the building should install the detector.

"These people owned their house, but a lot of people rent," said Assistant Chief Carl Holston. "If they (renters) don't have a smoke detector, we urge them to call us and we'll contact the owner. We can't go door-to-door looking for smoke detectors."

"Any other resident who wants advice on where to put the detector, should call us, and we'll help them. Anyone in a 2-story home without a smoke detector is gambling with his life."

National cemetery sought for states

The State House of Representatives has sent a message to Washington, D.C., specifically the Veterans Administration (VA), urging it to select Fort Custer at Battle Creek as a site of a national cemetery.

According to State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District), there presently is no national cemetery in the state to honor "its valiant men and women who in their lives served their nation."

The Romulus Democrat explained that the VA, in the near future, will be selecting sites for designation as national cemeteries and that Fort Custer is one of the sites under construction.

Since it was established during World War I, Custer, the fort has played a significant role in national defense. Thus, its selection as the site of a national cemetery would carry with it a historic link to armed forces service, Mahalak said.

"The selection also would be a fitting memorial to the thousands of Michigan servicemen who gave their lives in the armed forces," Mahalak added.

The resolution also points out that "few locales are more appropriate than Fort Custer and few states more worthy of such a distinction than Michigan."

Sharing ideas

Miss Wheelchair America, Margaret Ann Chmielewski of Canton Township, talked with Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) during a recent trip to Washington, D.C. Mrs. Chmielewski was in the nation's capital to participate in a meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and to make plans for the National Architectural Barrier Awareness Week last week. Congressman Ford was a congressional sponsor of legislation designating the week to increase public awareness of the problems facing the nation's more than 500,000 physically handicapped.

Labor stamps sought

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has joined with other congressional leaders in an effort to have the U.S. Postal Service issue a series of postage stamps, honoring America's top labor leaders.

Legislation authorizing such a stamp series was introduced last week by all of Michigan's 13 Democrats in the House of Representatives and four of the six Republicans.

The first stamp would honor the late Walter P. Reuther, president for many years of the United Auto Workers. It would be issued and offered for sale on Sept. 1, 1980 — the 73rd anniversary of Walter Reuther's birth.

Labor leaders honored by the remaining three stamps would be selected by the postmaster general on the basis of their "contributions to the cause of the American worker."

Congressman Ford pointed out that Samuel Gompers, former president of the American Federation of Labor, is the only labor leader ever recognized through the issuance of a stamp. Gompers was pictured on a 3-cent commemorative issued in 1950.

"In the 132 years since the United States began issuing stamps, we have honored statesmen, inventors, scientists, military heroes and industrialists," Congressman Ford said. "We have never singled out labor leaders."

"Walter Reuther is a most fitting person to choose for the first stamp in such a series. His work as UAW president and as a national leader had profound and long-lasting benefits for every American."

IS IT IMPORTANT TO ATTEND A FUNERAL?

Yes, it is, and for a variety of reasons.

First, it shows you care. Your being there is appreciated by the members of the family. You can help just by offering to help and meaning it. By attending the funeral, you help share the grieving — and grief-shared is grief-diminished.

Of course, if you were out of town or incapacitated during the funeral period, your not attending is understandable. In such a case a telegram, letter or phone call helps the family understand your plight.

Visiting the bereaved to offer your assistance and condolences is proper conduct. In fact, many mourners may feel it your obligation to observe this custom out of respect for the family or friendship for the deceased. If you fail to observe these simple social amenities, you may be unintentionally cutting your ties with the family of the bereaved. It behooves you to attend, to visit, to console the bereaved.

Commissioners refuse industrial tax abatements

Wayne County commissioners, by refusing to approve five industrial tax abatements in Livonia and Dearborn last week, put Lansing on notice that they would no longer rubber-stamp themselves out of much needed tax revenues. "The five exemptions," according to Commissioner Alex Pilch of Dearborn, "will cost the county nearly $1.5 million unless the State to halt the abatements in those two cities."

The five industries included in the report are Action Distributing Co. Inc., Dave Demarest and Company and G.M.C. Cadillac Motor Car Division of Livonia and two for the Ford Motor Company facilities in Dearborn, totaling $1,334,073 in county revenue.

Pilch, who is sparking the drive to stop industrial tax handouts, also wants the state to reimburse the county for prior tax abatements, which, he says amounts to millions of dollars.

"Apparently, few persons are aware — or even care — that tax dollars passed out by local communities for their own industrial developments also include a portion rightfully belonging to Wayne County," Pilch explained. "It isn't that I'm against industrial development or against realistic tax exemptions, but I am against doing it behind the county's back. After all, we are the ones facing a terrific financial deficit."

Pilch plans to carry his fight even further by seeking an amendment to Act 198 which would give the county veto power over future exemptions.

"Act 198, Industrial Facilities Tax (AFT), allows local industry to rehabilitate existing facilities without incurring additional property tax or, in the case of new facilities, to obtain a 50 percent tax abatement for a maximum of 12 years," Pilch explained. "So far this year, 10 cities and three townships have granted such exemptions without county concurrence."

According to Pilch, communities may grant tax breaks to industries located within a special created AFT district. The grant is approved and forwarded to the state which, in turn, notifies the county.

"Under existing legislation," Pilch said, "Wayne County has no authority to act on the grant. The state just assumes the commissioners approve. It wouldn't really matter if they did or didn't."

A sampling of Wayne County's tax rolls support's the commissioners' assertion. The Ford Motor plant in Dearborn constructed at a cost of $279,000,000 will not pay a dime extra because its tax assessment was frozen as of December 1978. Net loss to Wayne County are: $1,059,800.

General Motor's Diesel Plant in Romulus, assessed at $33 million, was granted a new facility tax abatement for 12 years amounting to 50 percent for a net loss of about $125,000.

Detroit rehabilitation abatements of $72 million will cost the county $500,000.

Livonia's new Ford Transmission Plant won a $166,000,000 abatement for another net loss to Wayne County of $174,000. The plant is assessed at $49 million.

Kelsey-Hayes of Romulus with its rehabilitated $18 million plant had its assessment frozen at $107,000 and is paying $7,500 — a little more than some homeowners. The loss to the county is another $70,000.

Legislature seeks more control over housing authority

A bill to protect state credit by giving the Legislature better control and oversight of bonding activities of state agencies has been introduced by Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti).

The bill would require agencies authorized to issue bonds to submit their proposed bonding for the next fiscal year to the Department of Management and Budget, which would report its recommendations to the Governor. The Governor would, in turn, recommend to the legislature the total amount of bonds he feels should be issued by all agencies and the amount he feels should be issued by each individual agency.

The measure would require approval of a bonding authorization bill by the legislature. It also would require the Department of Treasury to issue a comprehensive annual report on state bonded indebtedness, as well as the bonded indebtedness of each agency empowered to issue bonds.

"Experience has shown that we need a more effective overview of the entire bonding picture, rather than continue to allow state bonding on a fragment and piecemeal basis," Owen explained. "As it is now, each agency goes its own way, with little or no control or coordination by either the legislature or the Executive Office. If an agency runs out of money, it runs to the legislature to get its bonding limit increased."

As an example, he pointed out that the House just passed a bill to double the bonding capacity of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority since its current limit of bonds was exhausted.

Several years ago, during a state financial crunch, the state bond rating was reduced from a AAA rating to AA.

"We should attempt to regain our perfect bond rating," Owen said. "If we were able to take a closer look at the total picture of state bonds and have more direct and regular control over what bonds should or should not be authorized, it could reassure investors in Michigan bonds. I think it's no longer advisable to give any agency a blank check with a maximum authorized limit."

Owen, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, stressed that there is no bond trouble at the present time.

"What I want is a closer and more direct handle on the state's bonding position. Although we appear to be all right now, if a few things went wrong and any of our bonds defaulted, or if some projects failed, we could be in serious trouble."

"We need some rational and reasonable controls to prevent the state from overextending itself. Under the present system, no one really is responsible for the review of our total state bonding picture so that we can determine what it means to the state."

Know your law

(This is one in a series of public service articles explaining, in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law on their private legal affairs consult with a private attorney.)

By ATT. GEN. FRANK KELLEY

One of the most valuable rights Michigan residents enjoy is the right to own and use property. Closely associated with the right of property ownership is the right of access to and from a highway adjoining one's property. In fact, Michigan's Legislature has passed laws guaranteeing such property owners the right of access to and from highways adjoining their property.

As a property right, the Michigan Constitution guarantees that an exit or right of access to highway may not be taken away or completely denied by any governmental authority having control of the highway except through the power of eminent domain and the payment of just compensation to the property owner.

The right of access, however, is not an unqualified right. It may be qualified or reduced to provide for the safety and welfare of persons traveling on the highway. Therefore, under some circumstances direct access may not be permitted at all points. State law empowers the State Transportation Department to regulate the location, size and design of a driveway for vehicular access to and from the highway and adjoining property. These regulations are designed to protect the vital interests of the property owner, as well as the safety of those who travel Michigan's highways.

Too often, Michigan residents find themselves in needless difficulty with transportation officials because they build driveways without first obtaining a necessary permit from the appropriate highway official. This permit provides the details necessary for construction which will adequately provide for the safety of motorists, as well as accommodate the property owner.

The permit also provides required designs and specific rules for location of driveways in relation to the intended use. For example, a commercial use of adjoining property requires a design different than a design of a driveway for a resident.

Unfortunately, safety requires that under circumstances, there is no right to access to an adjoining highway. This occurs in the case of limited access highways. Such highways are designed for maximum speed and access is limited to entry and exit ramps. In the case of a limited access highway, the access rights will have been obtained through the exercise of eminent domain, or by purchase.

For information concerning the regulation of the right of access and the conveyances, you may write to Engineer of Utilities and Permits, Maintenance Division, Michigan Department of Transportation, P.O. Box 30050, Lansing 48909.

NOTICE CITY OF ROMULUS

Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing will be held Tuesday, June 12, 1979, at 7:00 p.m., in the Romulus City Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan for the purpose of hearing testimony for or against the approval of the establishment of an Industrial Development District for Woodfab Company.

RESOLUTION 79-190

WHEREAS: Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 is designed to provide a stimulus in the form of significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and/or expand aging plants and to build new plants in Michigan; and

WHEREAS: Under the provisions of the Act, a local government unit in which the total property tax levy is at least thirty (30) mills may establish property tax incentives to attract new plants to the area; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that a firm may apply for and be issued an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from ad valorem real and personal property taxes for a period of twelve (12) years. In lieu of the property tax, the firm will pay a specific tax known as the Industrial Facility Tax. The Industrial Facility Tax for a new plant in an industrial development district is determined by the ad valorem property tax levied by the municipality instead, however, of using the total mills levied, only half the millage rate is applied; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the owners of property to be affected by any proposed industrial development district may apply to the local governmental unit for the establishment of an industrial development district; and

WHEREAS: Woodfab Company, did on April 30, 1979, submit a request to the City of Romulus to establish an industrial development district, its description as follows:

A parcel of land in the Southeast ¼ of Section 16, T. 3S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, more particularly described as beginning at a point, said point being distant North 00 degrees 09' 50" East 689.78 feet and distant 1295.27 feet North 89 degrees 48' 20" West on South line of Section 16 to the Southeast corner of Section 16, T. 3S., R. 9 E.; thence North 00 degrees 09' 50" East 1494.60 feet to the Southerly Right of Way line of Wabash Railroad; thence on the Southerly Right of Way line of Wabash Railroad North 73 degrees 24' 30" East 316.91 feet; thence South 00 degrees 10' 10" West 1588.87 feet; thence North 89 degrees 17' 14" West 303.32 feet to the point of beginning, containing 10.74 acres more or less. Subject to easements of Record.

and,

WHEREAS: The Woodfab Company represents more than seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the property owners to be included in the aforementioned district as required by the provisions of Public Act 198; and

WHEREAS: Public Act 198 requires that a public hearing be held to hear any objections to and all reasons for the establishment of an industrial development district when a request is received by the local municipality for the establishment of such a district; and

WHEREAS: City Council of the City of Romulus is cognizant of the critical employment situation existing within its corporate limits compounded by an equally critical employment situation in the State and indeed the country; and

WHEREAS: The establishment of the requested industrial development district would go far to encourage the Woodfab Company to continue with additional projects of this site resulting in additional jobs for the citizens of the City of Romulus, as well as a substantial increase to the City's tax base.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus hold a Public Hearing on June 12, 1979, at 7:00 p.m., in the Romulus City Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, to take testimony from any and all parties having objections to the establishment of the requested industrial development district and to take testimony from any and all parties having reason to support the establishment of the requested industrial development district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to all property owners within the proposed boundaries of said industrial development district, to all units of government currently levying ad valorem tax on property included in the proposed industrial development district, and that a copy of this resolution together with a notice of public hearing be published at least once in the official newspaper of the City of Romulus not less than five (5) days proceeding said hearing.

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of a resolution adopted by the Romulus City Council at its special meeting held on the 15th day of May, 1979.

Things that matter

Truth in storytelling

By GEORGE PLAGENZ
United Features Syndicate

One of Billy Graham's funniest stories is about the drunk on the airplane who stumbled up to the evangelist and muttered, "Mr. Graham, I am so glad to meet you. Your sermons have meant so much to me."

I don't imagine that ever happened. Of course, it could have. Who knows? But who cares? It's a good story. I laugh every time I hear it.

When I was a minister in Boston, I once invited Dr. Bernard Clausen of Cleveland to preach at my church. The title of his sermon was, "Good Grief!"

He began the sermon by saying, "Walking over to church this morning, somebody came up to me and said, 'Bernard Clausen! Good grief! You here again?'"

I had accompanied Clausen from the Union Club, where he was staying, to King's Chapel that morning, and nobody on the way made such a remark. But it was a good lead-in to the sermon, and what difference did it make that the story wasn't true?

But not everybody takes the same devil-may-care attitude toward a minister's veracity (or lack of it) in telling stories.

After I had commented once to a group I was addressing that Graham's story of the drunk on the airplane probably was apocryphal, a lady came up to me and said, with indignance in her voice, that if Graham said the story happened, it happened.

"He wouldn't lie," she said.

She stood her ground, even after I told her that Norman Vincent Peale has used that same story in his sermons. Maybe Peale would lie, she intimated, but not Billy.

Even though it has been fairly well established that what most people remember longest from sermons are the anecdotes, some critics say that a sermon can be overcrowded with good stories.

"All in one sermon," a Graham reviewer once noted, "the evangelist met a drunk on an airplane (there he is again!); one of the greatest mathematicians in the country, the governor of Illinois, a little washerwoman, a very wealthy man, a little-old Baptist preacher and 25 French student leaders."

In a warning to "ministers down the block," this critic said, "No one really believes you or Billy Graham met all those people in a week or that something all that memorable happened in all those exchanges."

Nevertheless, this tendency to want to tell a good story — and even to improve upon it as you continue to retell it — was a failing (if it is a failing) of storytellers in Biblical times, too.

Old Testament scholars say that the fellow who first told the story of the crossing of the Red Sea related how an east wind blew, drying up the swamp that was standing in the way of the Israelites who wanted to escape from their Egyptian pursuers.

That may have been how it was, but the story lacked something. That was taken care of by a later reporter who said Moses stretched his hand over the sea and it turned into dry land.

That was better — but still not good enough to an even later chronicler, who captivated his audiences with the story of how, after Moses lifted his hands, the water "stood up like walls" on either side.

Artists for Sunday School leaflets have outdone themselves illustrating that one!

Jesus was a great storyteller — and he didn't always make it clear that he was making up his stories.

"A certain man had two sons," is the way the story of the Prodigal Son begins.

"A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves" — so begins the story of the Good Samaritan.

Jesus didn't begin, "Let's say, just for the sake of example, that a certain man..."

Dr. Lewis Raymond of Old Stone Church in Cleveland is a magnificent storyteller himself, but he says that he would never take credit for a story that didn't actually happen to him — although he might say, "I heard a story about a man who..."

Seniors' garden plots available

Senior citizens in Wayne County will continue to enjoy sunshine and gardening while managing to save money with garden plots on the grounds of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

On May 10 the Wayne County Board of Commissioners approved continuation of the free garden project, started in 1977 for seniors who wish to plant their own vegetables on county-owned land.

The program is sponsored by the Wayne County Office on Aging.

Commissioner Thomas Presnell (D-Westland) explained: "This year the county is providing approximately 230 lots that are 50 feet by 50 feet, double the number the project began with in 1977."

In addition, Presnell said, the project is being expanded to include the establishment of a garden club with the goal of raising funds to maintain these garden plots.

The seniors also were given approval to sell plants they raise in the greenhouse on the hospital complex to fund maintenance of the building. The plants will be available at the Senior Citizen Center, J Building, on the hospital grounds at 2345 Merriman Road.

Franks Nursery stores again has donated seeds for the spring planting to those seniors who are assigned individual plots.

The land is located south of Michigan Avenue across from the hospital between Middlebelt and Merriman roads.

College Week marks 'Year of the Child'

In keeping with the International Year of the Child, College Week 1979 on the Michigan State University campus includes a number of classes for and about families with children.

Sponsored by the Family Living Education Program of the university's Cooperative Extension Service, College Week is more than 50 years old. This year the event is set for June 18-21, with more than 50 classes and activities planned for an expected audience of more than 1,000.

College Week "students" may either take three classes during the four days or choose "Values Development — The Parents' Part", an in-depth look at how a child's moral judgement develops. Ted Ward, coordinator of the MSU Educational Development Program, will teach the class.

A class examining the effect of television on children will be taught by Eileen Earhart, chairperson of the MSU department of family and child sciences.

"By high school graduation, the average child has spent more time in front of the TV than in class," she noted. She will suggest some ways parents can more effectively control television viewing in the home.

Vera Borosage, professor of family and child sciences, will talk about changes in thought and action during "Families in Transition", her College Week class. Another class, "People and Families", will provide some tips on how to improve family communication and self-esteem.

Among the other family-related classes scheduled for College Week are "Moral and Spiritual Values Available to Families", "Developing Self-Esteem in You and Your Family", "In Search of Your Family Roots", "Planning Family Financial Security", "Motivation and Discipline for Children" and "An African Family Today".

Further information on College Week, including a registration form and brochure, is available from Kathleen Bufton, extension home economist, at 721-6565.

Information also can be obtained by contacting Wilma Miller, program coordinator, at 202 Wills House, Michigan State University, East Lansing 48824, or at (517) 355-6586.

School aid budget reported out

By ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

The $1.5 billion K-12 School Aid budget which increases guaranteed pupil income for school districts levying 30 mills by 9.2 percent, was reported out unanimously Tuesday by the House Appropriations Committee.
This bill (HB 4245) will be the first 1979-80 budget bill to go before the Legislature for consideration.
The total cost of the budget is $73 million over last year's budget and $26 million over Governor Milliken's recommendation.
The school aid formula is based on a basic payment of $320 per student with a guaranteed yield of $43 per mill for every mill a school district levies up to 30 mills and $43 for every 2 mills levied above 30 mills. The current formula, provides $274 plus $40 for each mill up to 30 mills.
Contained in this bill is a guarantee support level for districts that may be forced to rollback their millages under the tax limitation amendment. However, a total state equalized valuation

(SEV) that is higher than fiscal agency estimates could force changes in the formula and cost the state more in guaranteeing support to districts that roll back their millage.
It is to be noted that the guarantee for districts that are forced to roll back their millages, will be 105 percent of their 1978-79 allowance per pupil. The bill estimates a total SEV of $70.7 billion which is about 11.8 percent over 1978.
Even after additions and improvements are subtracted from the total which may account for 2 percent of the increase, the higher figure indicates that more districts than originally thought, will be forced to roll back their millages.
The tax limitation amendment requires rollback of millage rates when property values increase faster than the inflation rate which is currently pegged at 7.7 percent.
Because more districts will be forced to roll back their millages, this could cost the state of Michigan up to $40 million more to cover the 105 percent guarantee because those districts could not contribute as much to their own per pupil payments.

The K-12 School Aid Bill budget also includes $131 million for special education which is an increase of $9 million from 1978-79; $102 million for transportation, up from $93 million; $29.5 million for vocational education, an increase of $3 million; and $4.5 million for bilingual education, an increase of $500,000.
Defeated by the committee was an amendment offered by Rep. Gary Owen to strike out the $23 million earmarked for schools with declining enrollment. This $23 million figure is up $2 million from last year's school aid budget.
The present bill also permits schools with increasing enrollment, such as Plymouth and Canton, to take full advantage of increased student count in the first quarter.

More on gas saving devices

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

In this column last week, we looked at the development of low-cost solar cells as a means of providing the necessary energy for the conversion of water to oxygen and hydride. Hydride then being used to power conventional gasoline engines.
The new manufacturing process for the solar cells was discussed in a television program carried across this country (not available in the Detroit area), hosted by Howard Ruff.
Ruff, a noted economist, talk-show host, author and publisher of an economic newsletter, hosted on his program 'Ruff House,' the head of Solar-Hydrogen Development Company, Dr. Gerald M. Schaflander. The man responsible for the technology which can reduce the cost of solar cells by 66 percent, thereby providing the potential for a gasoline substitute, hydride, for about 28 cents per gallon.
Also on that television program last week, was a man named Vincent E. Carman, who developed a mechanical means of energy conservation.
While on the surface, Carman's device pales by comparison to the prospect of burning water to power autos, nevertheless, his development also holds promise of providing the long-sought panacea for our nation's energy problems.
Essentially, Carman's device is able to store kinetic energy normally lost through the breaking process, and apply it toward powering the vehicle.
As the featured cover story of Mechanics Illustrated, the new transmission and energy accumulator was evaluated by them, and they concluded that it works.

With this device installed on your vehicle, the brake pedal is removed and the accelerator alone controls speed and braking.
When in motion, stored energy in the accumulator powers the car until such time as that energy is dissipated. When that occurs, a small on-board computer starts the conventional engine in the vehicle to re-charge the accumulator.
When, during normal operation of the car, it is necessary to slow or stop, simply releasing the accelerator reverses the process, and the energy normally lost through braking is used to re-charge the accumulator while slowing the vehicle at any desired rate.
According to the inventor, for city stop-and-go driving which constitutes about 55 percent of normal usage, the vehicle's conventional engine is shut down 80 percent of the time. Through this process, it is possible to nearly double current automobile gas mileage.
While it is estimated that to equip existing cars would cost about $1,200 to $1,500, per vehicle, that figure could be reduced to only $150 when the auto is equipped with the device while being built.
So why is this device not the federal government's number one priority?
Apparently because it is not one of the devices government's bureaucrats decided was worth pursuing. Especially since they had made the decision already on a competing project utilizing fly-wheels for energy storage.
Even though Carman's device, when submitted to the federal Energy and Research and Development Administration, and later to the National Bureau of Standards, was judged to be worthy of further testing, when Carman asked for the final report on the transmission-accumulator, he was told that it has been misplaced. And according to Carman, it darn near took an act of congress to turn it up. And all the while, no federal funding for the device which could well provide the solution to this nation's struggle to conserve energy.

Add to that the recent story of the fellow who, in 1916, developed a device for injecting water into an engine that would increase engine power and mileage, who until today, has found no support for the testing of the invention, or financial support for its manufacture.
While independent evidence seems to support John O. deYessner's claims for the device, 30 percent increased fuel economy and reduced vehicle emissions, only now is it being considered as a potential means for reducing this nation's demands for energy.
On balance, the implications seem to bear out the concerns of many who feel government is not doing as much as it could, or as much as we are paying it to do. But more likely, government is actually discouraging the introduction of devices capable of reducing the long-range energy needs of this, and other countries.
Apparently, if the bureaucratic maze in Washington is good at anything, it is only protecting itself from those who might pose a threat to its existence.
Perhaps it is not too late to force the thousands of faceless, un-elected, bureaucrats in Washington to become accountable to those who must pay the bill. But on the other hand, perhaps it is!

Peets letter
hit by reader

EDITOR:
I find the "rather mild letter of criticism" Dr. Peets forwarded to the districts 37 bus drivers who refused to pick up children because of adverse weather conditions reprehensible, callous, and insensitive to say the least. The Board's decision to back him, a definite usurpation of power.
The drivers refusal to work coincided with the Van Buren April 9th millage election. I feel this prompted the decision to write the letter — concern for the passage of the millage and the voter reaction to school closings on election day. Never mind, it was the worst ice storm of the year, one which icy road conditions, felled trees, downed wires, power failures, and the closings of numerous school systems including the Detroit Public School System, Airport and Lincoln School Systems.
Who better to determine the safety of our school children than the men and women who transport them daily from home to school and, back safely to the arms of parents. How can the Van Buren Board of Education sit in regal royal blue chairs and play demagogue?
I am saying to the Van Buren

Board of Education it is time to dust the cob-webs from your minds and release the shackles from your thoughts and let a breath of fresh air enter. This is not a time for choosing sides and divisionary tactics. It is a time for impartial, unbiased, reflective decisions.
It is my earnest hope the residents of the Van Buren School District will speak out whenever they feel an injustice has been done. It is the only way to purge ourselves of the inept leadership we are allowing to surface.
Sharron Russell
Sumpter Township

It be Little League, Scouting, P.T.A., advisory committees or any one of many volunteer organizations and committees throughout our community.
I certainly don't mean to imply that because someone is a volunteer that you shouldn't be able to express well-meant criticism, but I don't believe that our community newspaper is the proper place.
Every Little League has regular membership board meetings where any parent, manager or coach can direct himself.
I can certainly understand your concern over your daughter's disappointment about not receiving her uniform and the possible manner in which it was handled, but at the same time, I understand the board wanting everyone at the general membership meeting, where the uniforms were passed out, to express the need for a minor manager, especially the parents of the children without a manager.
The entire organization is comprised of volunteers who do a tremendous sales promotion to encourage enough volunteers to run efficiently.
Most of us find excuses why we can't or won't become involved in any of the board's requests for help whether it be manager, coach, team mother, bingo worker or even baking goods for bingo.

I am looking forward to another year and sincerely hope that all members can benefit as much as my family has from Little League.

Dolly still great
EDITOR:
To those of us who were fortunate to attend the Van Buren School's production of the famed musical "Hello Dolly," words are inadequate to express appreciation for the excellence of that production.
It would compare favorably with most college-level or professional efforts of that type, and we are very proud of the achievement of these youngsters.
The vocal and instrumental music, the dancing and the staging, were exceptional. The entire cast, the directors, technicians and all supporters are entitled to the heartiest congratulations of the entire community.
Our school administration should be commended for providing the facilities and personnel for this community achievement!
It will have a beneficial impact for this area and certainly justifies our faith in its youth.

Ask Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Beginning in today's paper is a new feature provided to answer questions our readers may have on a wide-range of personal subjects.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

Carol brings to her column a thorough background in the field of clinical social work and has been involved in that area of study and practice since 1964.

She entered private practice in 1971, and is currently a doctoral candidate at Walden University at Naples, Florida.

Her private Psychotherapist Practice specializes in both individual and group therapy. She is in addition, Co-Founder of the Human Growth Center at Ann Arbor, a Group Worker at the University of Michigan's Center Department of Post Graduate Medicine, Therapist in the Family Unit of the Catholic Social Services, and serves as Field Supervisor for Wayne State University's Graduate Psychology Program, Student for Individual, Conjoint, Marital and Family Therapy, since 1976.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

DEAR CAROL:

I know someone who has two of the most obnoxious children I have ever dealt with (or had the misfortune to deal with). They are rude, whiny and demanding. They manipulate their mother with an expertise honed by experience. If you say anything to their mother, she becomes defensive and angry. However, I think the children are being done a disservice, as they will be spoiled, unsocialized savages. Should I say anything?

EXASPERATED

DEAR EXASPERATED:

It sounds as if you already have said something and it was not appreciated. Probably any further attempts to talk with the mother will only increase her defensiveness. Where is the father? Does he see the children misbehave? You might try to communicate with him, but don't expect too much. Parents frequently dislike interference in child raising and feel others should mind their own business.

DEAR CAROL:

I have a sixteen year old son who is getting low grades in school. How do I answer him when he says "my grades are my business, not your concern. Let me take care of it. Why do you interfere by grounding me?"

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED:

It sounds as if you might be into a power struggle with your son. Adolescence is a time of trying to gain independence from parents while at the same time wanting to depend on them. How much responsibility does your son have? If a child can't make decisions on his own, such as what clothes to wear, what to eat, hours of bedtime or curfews, etc., he may choose school work as an area of control. It sometimes is his only place to exercise his will. It is his way of saying "you can't control all areas of my life!" The only thing for the parent to do is recognize the young person as a developing adult, offer words of encouragement or praise and permit him to handle his own school work. If school is a battlefield between parent and offspring, both can lose. Only when the teen sees his work as his own responsibility can he really succeed.

DEAR CAROL:

I am very fat and ugly. Fat — over 100 pounds overweight — porcine looking. I cannot seem to stop eating, appealing to my own "will power" (a word hated by dieters) has not helped. What can I do?

CAN'T STOP

DEAR CAN'T STOP:

Being overweight or "fat" is definitely focused on in this country. Many other problems or difficulties can be hidden from public view, but where can you "hide" a hundred pounds. It is also one of the top reasons for heart trouble and therefore doubly important to deal with. The first step is to make an appointment with your family physician for a complete physical examination. Is there a physical reason for the obesity? If not, it may very well be a compulsion with emotional roots. Just as alcoholics anonymous has helped many compulsive drinkers, so has overeaters anonymous helped many compulsive eaters. The support of friends who share the same experience is invaluable. Get going and good luck!

Reflections

Just tied in knots

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

The other day I was standing in the kitchen beating my head against the cupboard doors when my neighbor came in.

"Why are you beating your head against those doors? My gosh, do you have brains to spare?"

"I'm beating my head against these doors because I'm frustrated, and I'm frustrated because things are always happening to me. I can deposit five hundred dollars one day and write a $2 check the next morning and it will bounce."

"I can send the mortgage payment in an envelope and put special delivery on it, and it never arrives. I can bathe a kid for two hours trying to get off all the dirt, only to find I've just bathed a neighbor's kid, and nobody knows what's happened to mine. That's why I'm beating my head against the cupboard doors."

"Tsk, tsk," my neighbor clucked. "You really do have problems. But I have the solution for you."

"You have?" I asked.

"Sure. Have you ever tried Yoga?" When I told her I hadn't she grabbed my hand and took me down to a center where yoga was being taught.

I loved it. Every day I went down, and finally I was making such great progress that one afternoon after I returned home I decided to practice for an hour.

My depression had lifted, and my frustration had fled.

I sat down in the middle of the living room floor and went through all of the positions I had learned. And then I decided I would see if I could put my leg behind my head. Slowly, carefully, I lifted my heel up, and up . . . and I made it! Smiling in triumph I sat there and hugged myself . . . that is, if one can hug one's self with a leg wrapped around one's neck.

Then I tried the other leg. Slowly, carefully, I lifted my heel up and up . . . and again, I made it! There I sat with two legs wrapped around my neck.

That's when the front door flew open.

"I know my wife is going to be happy to meet you," my husband was saying as he brought in a perfect stranger. "She loves surprises."

That is when he saw me. Frantically I was trying to get my legs down, but not a muscle would quiver. My eyes rolled up and my mouth flew open. "Help," I cried weakly. I was crying weakly because having two legs wrapped around one's neck tends towards strangulation.

It took two of them to help me look less like a pretzel. While I was waiting for the strength to come back into my legs, I heard the stranger say, "I say, does it help to keep 'em home, tying them up like that?"

"As long as they don't learn how to bounce," my husband replied.

Parental Pitfalls

Theatre tickets, stubs, corsages and programs...

By SHERRY WAINES

DEAR SHERRY: Today while spring cleaning I happened upon a small box full of old, I mean old, high school memories. Among the pictures, theatre ticket stubs, corsages, play programs etc. I found this note.

Dear Sue,
I felt messy all day today.
Love, Bed

It was placed years ago on my pillow by my mother. I had forgotten all about it and was wondering why I kept such a note. Then I remembered. That is, I visualized what my bedroom looked like as a teenager. Total disaster.

My closet was on the floor. At least that note got me to make my bed, everything else was still a mess but I did make my bed.

Talk about history repeating itself. I just walked past my daughters bedroom. Her taste in interior design appears to be a duplicate of what mine was at her age.

I am going to take that same note, cross out my name and put her's in it's place to be found by her when she comes home from school today.

When she asks me what the note is all about, I'm going to say "Ask your Grandmother". Sue A., Westland.

DEAR SUE: I can certainly relate to that, how easily we forget. Your letter reminded me of the first time my parents came over to inspect our new apartment after I was married. The first thing my mother said was, "My goodness daddy look, the word neatness must have been a part of the marriage vows."

DEAR SHERRY: When I was growing up my parents had a trick they used on us kids that helped us not only with math but also economics.

It was really very simple. You see when ever they were dishing out money to pay for something, one or more of us kids were usually around. Instead of paying the bill themselves they would give the money to one of us and then it was up to us to figure out the correct change and then count it.

The younger ones would pay the paperboy, and were allowed to decide how big his tip should be. When grocery shopping, the older ones would first estimate how much they thought the groceries for the week would come to, then they would give us the money to pay and receive the change.

In restaurants or gas stations they would do the same. When ever the cashier made an error, it was up to us to bring it to their attention, even if we received too much change. So I guess there was a lesson in honesty there also.

I don't remember them ever talking about money, but we all very quickly learned the value of a dollar and what the cost of living was all about. John B., Belleville Hey Dads: The weather this week-end is supposed to be absolutely beautiful. Why not show Mom how much you care by going out and buying her a big, fat wonderfully colorful kite.

Chances are she has never flown one and if she has it was a heck of a long time ago. Besides it will give you a chance to show her just one more of your wonderful abilities. After all weren't you that one kid on the block who always got his kite up without busting it to pieces, and of course you had at least six balls of string attached to the end of your kite. What a hero.

Now I suppose if the kids absolutely insist on going along, I guess it would be alright. Have a good day.
Sherry

Woodson wins 3 regional medals

Robichaud sprinter is "great" - leads Bulldogs to title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

MARK WOODSON

What a difference a healthy Darryl Goree makes. Goree, hurtling with an hamstring muscle injury, missed last week's dual track meet with Ecorse and Robichaud fell to the Red Raiders in a Suburban Athletic Conference meet.

On Saturday, Goree was back and Coach Leit Jones's Bulldogs zapped all comers to win the Class B Regional Track & Field title at Wyandotte Roosevelt High.

Goree, who won the high hurdles' regional title, was one of three Robichaud individual gold medalists. His teammate, Mark Woodson, however stole the spotlight with dazzling performances in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes. He swept three gold medals.

Robichaud's third gold medalist was Terry Ross who completed the Dearborn Heights' domination of the dashes and middle distances with a 1:58.5 for the 880-yard run.

"My seniors — Goree, Woodson, Chambers (Arthur) and Swasey (Bruce) carried the load and really pulled us through," said Jones whose team had a 90-86 edge over arch-rival, Ecorse, for top honors. What about the state finals?

"A lot depends on how the co-state champs (Flint Beecher and Muskegon Heights) along with Holly did in their regionals," Coach Jones added.

The Class B state finals will be decided on Saturday, June 2 in Grand Rapids.

It was the third time in six years that Jones's teams had run off with a regional championship.

Woodson's remarkable "triple" provided the key. He won the 100-yard dash with a 10 seconds flat effort, picked up the 220-yard gold on a 22.0 finish and breezed across the quarter-mile finish line in 49.7.

The durable senior also helped the mile relay team finished second to Ecorse for the silver medal. Woodson's 49.3 leg triggered Robichaud's efforts. Chambers, Denneryll Gray and Ross rounded out the lineup which was clocked in 3:28.0. Ecorse's 3:25.7 won it.

Calvin Townsend lost his composure and poise after having problems in the discus. The Robichaud senior was left out of the money in that event, but came back to place second in the shot put with a 48 feet, 11 inch performance. Schafer's Dale Mitroka won the shot put with a heave of 52 feet, 9 1/4 inches.

Robichaud also placed third in the mile run with Bruce Block (4:31.0), and Block beat his own two-mile school record when he finished third in that event in 9:53.8.

The Sports Meridian

An act of patriotism

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

They say "patriotism" is on the way out.

Don't ask, "Who they are?" because it's always difficult to substantiate the subjective without tons of monies for research. And they have been saying it since the time of Socrates and he's left this space ship some time ago.

But the reason the word "patriotism" comes up here today is twofold: First, Memorial Day is just around the corner; and, secondly, one of our former coaches related a story — a sports story — which is worthy of note.

First, the sports story:

Dick Miller, a former cross country and track coach at Wayne Memorial who has settled down into the sedate life of high school counseling, also happens to take time out to officiate track meets.

Miller was the starter for the recent Harry Hidenfelter Memorial Relays, nee Western Wayne Relays, staged at Westland John Glenn.

It is usually customary — traditional if you will — to play our National Anthem at the big meets and following tradition, Don Domke, the AD at the high school, started the finals with the anthem.

"I was surprised," Miller related, "at an incident that took place on the nearby softball diamond. As the first strains of the anthem began, the players on the field stopped, took their softball caps off their heads and placed them over their hearts."

"I know it sounds corny," Miller continued, "but it was very touching. I thought 'patriotism' had died a long time ago. Guess it hasn't."

Corny, never.

Patriotism will be here a long time after you and I are gone.

And what better way to commemorate patriotism by remembering those who lost their lives and served this country during the many wars this country has been involved in.

Memorial Day — 1979. A couple of words and some numbers — but what a difference it would have been if Nazi Germany or the Axis Powers would have beaten us back then!

Is this Coach Wilkerson's last year?

Al Wilkerson went back "to where it all started" — Adrian — last week and returned to Romulus with some startling revelations.

Wilkerson took his track team to Adrian, the site of the Class A Regional Track Championships on Saturday. And Adrian also happens to be his hometown. Al grew up in Adrian and starred at the local high school in basketball.

"They said 'you can never go home'," the philosophical Wilkerson said, "but Adrian is my home and it brought back a lot of memories."

The trip home also apparently stirred a lot of other mixed emotions. After his soliloquy, Wilkerson revealed that this will be his last year as Romulus' head track coach.

"Yep, I'm quitting," Wilkerson said. "It's been a wonderful experience and now it's time for other challenges."

What those "other challenges" are Wilkerson wouldn't elaborate upon.

Wilkerson singlehandedly is responsible for the renaissance of track at Romulus. He has managed to build an excellent program, one that is producing outstanding athletes.

Equally — if not more — importantly, he has managed to get athletes interested and involved in something worthwhile.

It would be a pity for the school district to lose an excellent coach and educator of Wilkerson's caliber.

Want to 'Learn to Swim?'

The Belleville Tiger Swim Club is sponsoring a "learn to swim" session, beginning on June 2. Ben Robertson, who has 18 years coaching experience, will be the instructor.

Registration for the clinic will be conducted from 6 to 8 p.m., May 29 and 30th at the Belleville High School Pool. The session will include eight lessons within a two-week period and the registration fee is $16 per child.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Pat Gary at 697-7176.

Legion baseball tryouts

With the high school baseball season slowly but inevitably fading into history, the first call is out for baseball players for the American Legion League.

Coach Norm Hoenes, who is handling the Wayne Post III Legion team, announced tryouts for that team. The tryouts will be held 6 p.m. at Westland John Glenn High field on May 29, 30 and 31.

Potential players must be 18 and under to compete in Legion ball. The local Legion team will play 24 games in the 8-team 16th District League.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Coach Hoenes at 729-3469.

Glenn had ups-and-downs; downs Redford Union, 8-5

Westland John Glenn's baseball team has had its ups-and-downs this season in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

Down last Tuesday when it lost both ends of a doubleheader to undefeated Livonia Franklin, the Westlanders bounced back to bounce Redford Union, 8-5, on Friday.

"It's been like this most of the year," Coach Norm Hoenes said. "Just when you think you got this thing licked and the kids begin to look like a team, something goes wrong like against Franklin. 'However, we then manage to come back,'" Hoenes said.

There won't be any "coming back" for any tournament games if the Rockets don't get past Romulus on Friday. Romulus shut out Belleville 1-0 last Saturday to qualify for the pre-district playoff with Glenn. The winner of the Glenn-Romulus game will advance to the Class A District Championship scheduled for Belleville.

The pre-district is at Romulus. Gametime is 4 p.m.

Redford Union got to Glenn starter Ralph McKenzie for two runs in the first inning, but the Westlanders staged a three-run rally in the bottom of the second to take the lead. Pat Kaltenback started it off with a walk, and after two were out, Toby Wright singled — his first hit of the season — then Jeff Cesarz tripled home the two baserunners.

Rob Suida broke the two-all deadlock by chasing home Cesarz with a triple but he was left stranded on base.

McKenzie couldn't hold his rivals. They scored in the top of the third to make it a 3-all ballgame. The Rockets went to work and got back two runs in that inning.

Daran Armstrong led off the Glenn third with a double and Jim Remington's single sent him home. Remington scored on a single by Tony Dalimonte. But McKenzie again failed to protect the slim lead as R. U. came back and scored in the top of the fourth and Hoenes decided on a pitching change, bringing in Jeff Bronson.

In the fourth, Glenn put three runs on the board to seal the victory. The Rockets got them on a single by Jeff Cesarz. Suida was safe on an error and Tim Ruark tripled home two runs and scored on Armstrong's sacrifice fly.

Swinging for nationals

Todd Beyer, former All-Area tennis ace from Wayne Memorial, has his sights set upon the NAIA national championship. Beyer qualified for a shot at the coveted crown by qualifying at the NAIA District 23 tournament held last weekend in Grand Rapids. Beyer helped Northwood Institute in Midland win the tournament, playing in No. 2 singles. The Nationals will be held in Kansas City from May 30 to June 4.

Beyer helps Northwood capture tennis title

With a former Wayne Memorial tennis star in its lineup, Northwood Institute in Midland captured the NAIA District 23 tennis tournament championship over the weekend.

Freshman Todd Beyer, who a year ago was the mainstay of the Wayne Memorial team, played a feature role in the Northwood victory at the district championships. The victory also will enable the Northmen to compete for the national championship.

The nationals will be held beginning May 30 until June 4 in Kansas City.

Beyer finished second to teammate Stu Francke in the No. 2 singles, but the sixth-seeded ex-Wayne High netter teamed with Francke to win the doubles title.

Northwood edged Ferris State College 24-19, winning six of seven head-to-head matches with the Bulldogs. Hillsdale was third with 11 points followed by Grand Valley with 8. Also at the tournament were Aquinas (6), Spring Harbor (6) and Lake Superior (2) colleges.

Beyer managed to win eight out of his 10 match sets, including a 6-2, 6-7, 7-5 match over second-seeded Dave Kuras of Ferris before losing to Francke in the finals.

Then Beyer and Francke teamed up to defeat Kuras and Doug Wenger of Ferris to capture the doubles finals 6-4 and 6-3.

Beyer is taking a brief rest at home before heading for Kansas City and the national NAIA championships.

'Strange meet'

'Underdog' Glenn detours Franklin thinclads

"It's strange," said Franklin's Bob Holmes, "we thought we had a better chance of beating Glenn than North Farmington."

It didn't turn out that way, though, as Westland John Glenn thinclads upset Franklin's title cart (for the moment at least), 73-49, handing the previously undefeated Northwest Suburban Conference track leader their first loss of the season.

Franklin bounced right back and bounced North Farmington, 72-60, a team that previously beat Glenn.

And it's now anyone's guess which team will emerge from the conference meet with the over-all title. The championships were to be decided Wednesday afternoon at Franklin. Glenn, Franklin and North Farmington went into the meet with similar 3-1 records.

Glenn coach Barry Basil was very "pleased with the victory over Franklin," but pointed out that he felt neither team ran exceptionally well.

"It was a strange meet," agreed Basil who defended the quote by saying that his team won events where it wasn't expected to and lost events that "we felt we should have won."

"On paper, though," Basil continued, "it was really close. But they (Franklin) lost a few more than we did."

Coach Basil also said that he'd like to have more make-up meets, especially on Monday. The two teams were originally scheduled to meet on April 26 but inclement weather washed out the competition.

37 straight victories

Spartans rip apart Crestwood

Barring a complete breakdown in its track machine, Cherry Hill and Coach Dick Gordon should coast to their fourth consecutive Tri-River Conference championship.

The Spartans rattled arch-rival, Garden City West, 85-44, then whacked Crestwood 93 1/2 to 37 1/2 to end the dual meet phase of the season with an untarnished 7-0 record. (They're 9-0 on the season).

Even Coach Gordon admits that, "we would have to fall apart in order to lose the title."

If Cherry Hill finishes the league meet in second place, it could possibly share the championship with the team ahead of it, if it's once defeated West, otherwise, it's all Cherry Hill's.

Gordon commended his sophomores and younger athletes for giving this year's team the balance it needed to go undefeated. Two of those soph — John Martin and Greg Thompson — have performed exceptionally well.

Martin runs a 42.3 in the low hurdles, while Thompson, who is the son of Inkster High cage coach George Thompson Jr., cleared 6 feet, 4 inches in the high jump the other day.

Cherry Hill's two victories last week made it 37 in a row for the Spartans in the conference over a span of three years.

The Spartans tore Crestwood apart, claiming 13 out of a possible 16 first places.

While Glenn received a superb all-around effort from senior Greg Houfley, Franklin partially offset Greg's triple victory with Don Boka's performances in the discus and shot put. Houfley won the long jump (20'9 1/2"), the 440-yard dash (52.8) and the 220 (23.5), while Boka's toss of 141 feet, 5 inches topped all challengers in the discus and a 48 feet, 5 inches put was the best in the shot put.

Romulus' Ayers blanks Belleville

Schick whiffed seven and didn't walk any to stun the Parkers who had their problems with Mike Johnson. Johnson slashed three hits and drove in three runs for the winners.

Divine Child jumped on Romulus starter Duane Parker for six runs in the first two innings, then went on to a 13-1 victory as Falcon hurler, Tom Bilkie, notched 12 strikeouts and walked four.

Behind 6-4 senior Bill Beyer's four-hit pitching performance, Clarendonville eked out a 5-3 victory over the Eagles. Beyer was tough on the mound as well as at the plate where he drove in the two runs that proved to be the difference.

It was Ayers' first loss of the season. He pitched a five-hitter, struck out eight and walked two.

Schick turned in an exceptional performance against Pioneer as he scattered seven hits, fanned eight and again didn't walk any in the 11-1 victory. He received ample hitting support from John Bozelak whose two hits drove in five runs. Venier also laced a pair of singles for the winners.

Jakubowski's MVP

Tom Jakubowski, an outstanding trackman at Westland John Glenn three years ago, has emerged as "Most Valuable Athlete" in track at Adrian College this year.

The 19-year-old Canton resident was among the 100 spring sports athletes who were recently honored at the college's annual sports banquet. He's a sophomore.

Other area athletes who lettered are Belleville's Steve Zimmerman and New Boston Huron's Craig Beattie. Both were members of the Adrian track team.

Patriots win qualifying game in 8th

Franklin has handle on Northwest title

Sweeping a doubleheader from Westland John Glenn last week and burying Garden City East on Friday moved Livonia Franklin closer to the Northwest Suburban Conference baseball championship.

Coach Gerry Cullin's Patriots also defeated Redford Union 4-3, going eight innings to do so, to remain alive in the Class A district playoffs.

"We won the games we had to last week," Coach Cullin stressed. "And that put us in great shape for the final weeks."

Livonia Franklin is presently 8-0 in the conference, two full games up on North Farmington as the week began. The Pats have clinched at least a share of the title.

Behind Jeff Sergison's three-hit pitching, the Patriots buried Garden City East 11-1 for their eighth conference win and boosted their overall record to 16-4 on the season. Tied at 1-1 after two innings, Franklin put the game out of reach with a 10-run third inning as Chris Baker and Herb McManaway erupted for six hits between them.

Baker, also noted for his cage heroics, hammered a triple and single to chase home four runs while McManaway also tripled and had a pair of singles.

Sergison picked up his third victory of the season as he scattered three hits, struck out a hefty 12 batters and walked only two.

Craig Jones twirled a two-hitter in Franklin's 3-2 triumph over Westland John Glenn in their opening game. The Pat pitcher struck out eight and walked two to fatten his personal record to 4-0 on the year.

Glenn grabbed a 1-0 first inning lead when Jones gave up a single to Jim Remington after Rod Suida was safe on an error, moved to second when Tim Ruark walked and scored on Remington's base hit.

Franklin erased the deficit and took control 3-1 in the third as Doug White started the inning reaching first on an error. After John McLean flied out, Gary DeYonker singled, then John Mazurek tripled in two runs and scored when Baker was safe on an error.

Jones gave up a run in the seventh when Remington belted a single and reached third as Pat Kaltenback hit back to Jones who pivoted to get the man at second but threw the ball wild into centerfield. Mark Cesarz then rapped a grounder that was turned into a double play, but allowed Remington to score.

Ralph McKenzie was charged with the loss. He gave up three hits, walked as many and struck out one in going the distance.

In the nightcap, Franklin pounded out 12 hits to humble Glenn and loser Jeff Bronson 13-4. Jeff Aguzzi went the distance, served up three hits, struck out eight and walked three to chalk up the victory.

McManaway again led the assault on Glenn's pitchers as he stroked three hits in five trips and counted three RBIs. Baker went two for four including a triple and two runs batted in while DeYonker and Jon McCarthy split four hits evenly.

Armstrong latched on to a two-run triple, and scored on an error to account for three Glenn runs in the fifth. But Franklin had a 9-3 lead at the time with a run in the first and four runs in each of the second and fourth innings.

Franklin qualified for the pre-district tournament by edging Redford Union 4-3 Monday. Cullin's troops will play Bishop Borgess at 3:30 p.m. on Friday to see which will advance to the Class A (District 8) championships scheduled for Redford Union.

McManaway scored the winning run.

'Bad luck' plagues Spartans

Cherry Hill is ousted for district playoffs

Bad luck followed Cherry Hill and Coach Ken Mientkiewicz right into the qualifying round of the Class B baseball pre-district game last week.

The Spartans were ousted — take that back — they ousted themselves — by committing five big errors and losing a 5-3 game to South Lyon.

"That's been the story all year," Mientkiewicz moaned, "we've committed errors that has cost us big games."

Brian Hewitt worked the first four innings against Lyon and gave up four of the runs and 7 of the 11 hits to take the loss. He was replaced by Jerome Potvin.

Both teams scored a run in the second, but South Lyon, with the help of an umpire-deflected ball, put two runs on the board in the fourth to take the lead for good.

Two Lyon pitchers held the Spartans to five hits. Catcher Bill James accounted for two of those and a run batted in.

Taylor Kennedy made excellent use of the Spartans' inept defense and scored a 17-3 victory over them in a Tri-River Conference game last Friday. Cherry Hill made five errors in the first two innings and never was in it after that. The loss left the Spartans with a 4-8 record.

One of the bright spots however last week was hurler Dave Okoney's three-hitter against Dearborn Heights Riverside. Okoney whiffed five and walked two en route to a 6-0 shutout over the Rebels.

Okoney aided his own cause with three hits in four trips to the plate and, pounded out a double and a pair of singles to finish with three RBIs.

Hewitt chased home a run with a pair of singles in four official appearances at the plate.

Cherry Hill had league-leading Melvindale on the ropes 6-2 in the bottom of the seventh before the Cardinals scored four runs on an error to tie the game and send it into extra innings. Winning pitcher Doug Allward came to the plate with the bases loaded in the seventh and socked one into the outfield which got through for a 4-run miscue.

Tied at 6-6, the Cardinals went on to win an 8-7 decision in the 12th inning.

Rick Searcy went the distance for the losers, struck out 12 and walked 10, while Allward, in relief of Tom Kaminsky, got credit for the win.

Mike Johnson, Potvin and Okoney each checked in with two hits apiece. One of Johnson's hits was a two-run double.

Cherry Hill should wrap up the season (weather permitting) this week. The Spartans had two games scheduled, taking on Garden City West on Monday, then hosting Crestwood on Wednesday.

Foster Memorial cycle races set

Steven Foster whose love for motorcycle racing led to his death last year will be remembered this weekend when the E-Z Rider Raceway stages a "Steve Foster Memorial Weekend of Racing."

Foster died of injuries sustained in an motorcycle race on August 9, 1977, at the Santa Fe Race Track near Chicago. The Wayne Memorial graduate was 19 at the time of the fatal crash.

The raceway, located at 11100 Townsend Rd., in Milan, (next to the Milan Dragway) will hold T & T races at 8 p.m. Friday night and on Saturday at 8 p.m. stage semi-pro short track races.

Some of the best cyclists in the country will be on hand to honor Foster.

Further information about the Foster Memorial may be obtained by telephoning Jim White at 728-1914.

Romulus is no match for Belleville

Taking time out from its league chores, Belleville showed neighboring Romulus why the Tigers are 2-0 in the Suburban 8 Conference track circuit this year.

Coach Dave Medley's runners ran past the Eagles 81-51, taking with them nine of the 16 first places, and winning two of the three relays.

"We're a good dual meet team," Medley noted, "and they (Romulus) didn't have the depth to match us."

Tolson eyes triple GL-8 track titles

Monroe High may be favored to repeat as the Great Lakes 8 Conference track champ, but it'll be Wayne Memorial's junior distance specialist, Doug Tolson, who'll probably be the one to catch in three events: the two, one mile and half mile events.

Tolson, one of the premier prep distance runners in the state, will make his show to Taylor Center on Thursday where the 1979 championships will be decided beginning at 3:30 p.m.

"Doug definitely will be the top runner in the distances," pointed out Wayne Coach Ernie Righetti, "but Monroe will be the team to beat at that meet."

Tolson contributed three first places — winning the two-mile (10:12.0), mile (4:48.5) and half-mile (2:06.4) as the Zebras crushed Riverview 90-42 in their final conference dual meet of the season. The victory boosted Wayne's conference record to 4-3 on the season.

Monroe wins Great Lakes tennis title

When you don't have the top seeds, the luck of the draw is important.

And Wayne didn't have the top-seeded players or the "luck" last week, and consequently, Coach Jack Armstrong's netters took it on the chin.

Zapped from the Class A regionals without qualifying a single player for the state finals, the Zebras also fell to sixth place at the recent Great Lakes 8 Conference tournament.

"It was the first time that I had failed to qualify anyone for state," Coach Armstrong said. "We had some good matches, but the tough draws."

Monroe won the conference title with 36 points, followed by Wyandotte (27), Fordson (11), Lincoln Park (9), Riverview (9), Wayne Memorial (8), Taylor Center (3), and Taylor Truman (2).

Wayne's eight points were contributed on the basis of Greg Marshall and Tom Fargo's performances in the No. 3 doubles where the team reached the finals and lost to Monroe's Mistry and Carter, 6-2, 6-3.

"We felt badly that we didn't finish third at the conference tournament," said Armstrong. "We are overpowered by Monroe and Wyandotte, but not by the others. It was just the luck of the draw — we were paired with some of the top-seeded players."

Boka, Tolson, Hanschu, Earle also find gold at regionals

Camille Swasey and older brother, Bruce, along with James Rhea and Ross earned a third place in the 880-yard relay, again finishing behind Ecorse (1:30.2) and University of Detroit High (1:31.5).

Meanwhile, Cherry Hill qualified two of its members for the "B" state finals as hurdler Bob Norwood finished second to Goree in the highs (14.9) and Tom Minor wound up third in the lows (39.8), trailing winner Dave Laura of Riverview (39.4).

Livonia Franklin's Don Boka, Wayne's Doug Tolson, Plymouth Salem's Rick Hanschu also stuck gold, but at the Class A Regional finals staged Saturday in Adrian.

Boka, a senior who was an All-Area choice in football, had the winning put of 52 feet, 6 1/4 inches. He also placed third in the discus with a toss of 141 feet, 10 inches.

Tolson had little competition in the 2-mile run as archrival, Jim Miller, ran on a fractured foot, and Tolson coasted to victory with a 9:21.7 effort. The Wayne junior has been clocked in 9:14.1 this season.

Wayne also qualified Mark Michalowski who finished in 1:58.3 for the half-mile, good enough for a third place. Michalowski trailed Adrian's Pat Wakefield (1:58.0) and Northville's Harry Couyoumjan (1:58.1) across the finish line.

Romulus was represented in the winning circle by junior David Earle who surprised the upperclassmen by coasting to a 39.4 to set a school record and win the low hurdles. Earle bettered his best time of the year by four-tenths of a second.

Coach Al Wilkerson will also take to Flint Northwestern Donald Grandison, Richard Lewis and a 440-yard relay team made up of Grandison, Michael Scott, Lewis and Larry Young.

Grandison, whose best leap of the year is 6 feet, 10 inches, was forced to settle for a silver medal in the high jump. He had his problems at Adrian. He successfully cleared 6 feet, 3 inches, but that wasn't good enough. Ann Arbor Pioneer's Dan Elliott made it over the bar at 6 feet, 5 inches on his last attempt. Glenn's Brad Jennings was third. He also jumped 6 feet, 3.

Salem's Hanschu earned a gold medal in the long jump. His 21 feet, 5 inches was the best in the field. Two inches behind was Pioneer's Greg Turner and Grandison was third with a 21 feet, 2 1/2 inch performance.

Romulus' 440-yard relay team posted a 44.2, a school record, in finishing third. Ann Arbor Huron's foursome won it with a 43.6 and Ypsilanti ran second (44.0).

Huron's Jeff Herndon led Lewis across the finish line in the high hurdles, posting a 14.2 for the victory. Lewis' time was 14.6.

Belle had one qualifier for the state. He's miler Bob Oakley who finished third in the event (4:27.7) for the bronze medal. Northville's Brian Trumbull won the gold in 4:25.2, while Huron's Mike Kilela was runner-up (4:25.2).

Salem had the best pole vaulters in the Adrian regional thanks to Dennis Ogden and Jack Wellman who climbed 13 feet, 3 inches to share the gold. The Rocks produced the No. 1 discusman in Bob Pittaway who hurled the stick 149 feet, 10 inches.

Canton's Dan McGlenn led Earle across the finish line in the 330-yard low hurdles. McGlenn's time of 39.9 seconds established him as one of the favorites in the state finals. Glenn also will be represented at Flint Northwestern in the two-mile. Traveling Tolson and Miller to the wire was Paul Stephens who brought home a third place medal for his 9:45.4 performance in the event.

Glenn's Greg Houfley finished third in the 440-yard dash with a 52.1 clocking. Garden City West's Paul Biekowski won the event in 50.8 and Pioneer's Keith Bostic was second (52.0).

run in the bottom of the eighth after slicing a single off of losing hurler Kirk Hunter. Jim Wilson sacrificed McManaway to second. He went to third on an infield out. After Jones walked, McLean then singled him in for the winning run.

Jim Kucara, in relief of starter Ken Webster, got credit for the victory. Webster worked the first six innings, gave up three runs on eight hits and fanned seven while walking three.

Franklin got on the board in the first inning, and made it a 2-0 game in the bottom of the third, but R.U. scored two to tie it up in the fourth and went ahead 3-2 in the fifth before the Patriots got the equalizer in the sixth.

McManaway's triple and single paced a nine-hit Franklin attack on Hunter, a righthander who notched one strikeout.

"This is the third time we had beaten them this year," pointed out Cullin. "They showed us why it's scary to play a team three times in one year."

Allen Drury, who over the years has been one of my favorite writers, seems to be following the trend of most name authors these days and belting out an "interim" novel just to fill what might be a void until the next "biggie." His latest, "Mark Coffin, USS," has been quite a disappointment (and the aide at the library warned me that I'd probably not like it as well as previous writings.)

Drury, who's always done in-depth and rather menacing things on Washington and the Capitol scene, seems to lack substance with "Coffin" — a rather shallow sort of main character.

In many of Drury's writings, particularly his D.C. series which began with "Advise and Consent," he stuck with a specific cast of characters and had them mature and develop with each subsequent book. Perhaps it's the "strangers" in his new novel that seem incongruent to me.

Anyway, Coffin is a brand new "baby" senator from California (just turned 30) who's out to right the wrongs of Capitol Hill and who, almost at once, lets you down by succumbing to the blatant advances of a young TV reporter who's notorious for her pursuit and conquest of new congressmen.

His one-night stand with the very knowledgeable young thing leads to repercussions of unbelievable proportions and it all just doesn't ring true — particularly since "The Hill" is internationally known for its bedroom antics.

Just not a very convincing bit of reading but probably only so to those who really got involved with the sequels to "Advise" — his marvelous follow-ups — "A Shade of Difference," "Capable of Honor," "Preserve and Protect" and "Come Nineveh, Come Tyre." If you're looking for interesting summer reading and like the D.C. theme, you might get hold of that series. If you're a romantic, tho', forget it! There's no moonlight and roses.

As for "Mark Coffin" — eh!!

You know your daughter has grown up when she starts receiving "Time" magazine in the mail rather than "Seventeen."

One thing sportscasters and those covering the aftermath of an athletic contest should never, never do is interview the "big star" after the game.

This type of punishment should never be allowed to reach the listening public's ears and the poor unaware "hero" should never be made to "orate" state-or-nationwide. The "ya know" syndrome seems to be a disease with ballplayers and hearing the phrase before and after each sentence does rather grate.

(Or was it because WJR had me a captive audience enroute to work — 45 minutes now — and I was too dumb to switch stations?)

In readying 22 years accumulation for our big garage sale (it was last Saturday and I'm writing this last Thursday) the dozens of boxes of jigsaw puzzles certainly brought my dear mother to mind.

Having always been a puzzle nut (crosswords, double acrostics, etc.), I began at an early age to bewilder my very-adept-with-needlework mom. She simply could NOT understand the hours I'd put in over those miniscule and maddening little pieces. The very thought that when I completed the scene I'd break it all up and tuck it away simply drove her to distraction. "Why don't you knit something or embroider or learn to crochet, Lee?" she'd plead with me. "At least you'd have something to SHOW for your time."

An avid fanciwork producer, mom never quite got used to the fact that I completely ignored needles (of all kinds) and leaned towards books, quizzes and pencil and paper activities.

And I never could convince her that working a jigsaw or crossword were two very RELAXING pastimes for me since just a glance at 1,000 interlocking pieces would send her up the wall.

DIET TIP — Stir ½ teaspoon each dry mustard and Worcestershire sauce into a cup of plain yogurt as a gravy for hamburgers or lean beef.

EGG TIP — Next time you consider making deviled eggs, mix the yolks with sour cream rather than mayo for a different taste.

Since there were no corner drugstores in medieval times, home-grown herb gardens provided the wonder drugs of the day. And since physicians were few and far between, it was, of necessity, an era of do-it-yourself.

The medieval housewife planted a garden of herbs that hopefully would help her cope with anything from snakebite to influenza. Many of the plants are familiar to us since we use them in cooking: sage, marjoram, fennel, caraway, bay leaves and rosemary.

Ingenuously, housewives in those ancient days found many other uses for herbs besides healing. For instance, sweet woodruff when dried has the scent of new-mown hay. Therefore, it was used for strewing on floors, perfuming linen chests and making garlands for church on feast days.

Marjoram was a must in those days-of-yore gardens. It was used to flavor soups, meat dishes and salads. This same herb "bound on the head would cure a cold; drunk with wine, it warmed the stomach, comforting digestion."

Camomile or rosemary was used to make a "sweet washing water." And mint "rubbed on the teeth will give a sweet smelling mouth."

Distilled water from the leaves and flowers of cowslip were "good against the pain in the head that comes of a cold" — a task we would assign today to aspirin.

Caraway was not only for coughs, it was also "good for the frenzy and for biting of venomous beasts; also it restoreth hair which hath fallen away."

When a member of her family had a cold, the lady of the house boiled up a potent brew of leaves and flowers of fresh borage. For a nervous headache, she made an infusion of primrose root. And for a sedative, there was always a crock of cowslip wine handy.

The time has long vanished when a homemaker finds it necessary to grow an herb garden purely for medicinal purposes. Today it is more likely to be gourmet cooks or enthusiastic gardeners who find it an esoteric and rewarding hobby. But then how many people today suffer from the "frenzy" or "the biting of venomous beasts?"

THE BOTTOM LINE: Tact is the ability to tell a man he's openminded when he has a hole in his head.

So you love desserts!

How sophisticated are you in your dessert preferences? Well, there's nothing old-fashioned about liking a traditional Egg Custard Pie. But there is something old-fashioned if you go the route of making it from scratch. Even if time is at a premium for you, you can use a convenient egg custard mix that's ready in a jiffy without baking.

Follow directions on a 3-oz. package of egg custard mix and the preparation is so easy in a saucepan right on top of the kitchen range. After cooling, pour the prepared custard into a baked 8-inch pie shell, sprinkle with nutmeg and chill until set — about 3 hours.

By the way, if you prefer, you can use reconstituted nonfat dry milk or evaporated milk in this recipe instead of whole milk. That's surely good news for those people who are on special diets.

If you plan to purchase fresh strawberries at the market this week, be sure they're plump with the green caps still on. Of course, it's wise to refrigerate them until they're going to be used.

This brings me to your dessert recipe for the berries. If you're a traditionalist, most likely the berries will be glorified in a strawberry shortcake. Just for a change, why not make a creamy Strawberry Tapioca Pudding with a convenient dessert mix. It beats baking biscuits!

Just prepare the vanilla tapioca pudding mix according to directions on a 3-¼ oz. size package. Fold in 2 cups (1 pint) fresh strawberries after cooling the pudding for about 15 minutes. Then, chill this divine mixture in eight individual dessert dishes for about an hour. This is inspiration enough to call in the folks next door for a quick dessert!

Red Cross salutes Martha Morton — 25-year volunteer

A Belleville woman was recently honored for her 35 years of volunteer service during a Red Cross Volunteer and Staff Recognition Ceremony held in Dearborn.

Mrs. Martha Morton was one of 55 persons in Southeastern Michigan who were recognized for serving 25 years or more as Red Cross volunteers. Mrs. Morton began her

Red Cross career as a Blood Services volunteer, staffing the canteen. She took on the responsibility of being chairman of blood staffing in 1944, a position she still holds.

In addition to her Red Cross work, Mrs. Morton has worked for the Michigan Cancer Foundation for 25 years and is a long-time member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Using Solar Energy...

Come see how Detroit Edison is using the sun's energy to heat space and water in its experimental Jubilee Solar Home.

Visit the Jubilee Solar Home and see how Detroit Edison is experimenting with the sun's natural energy to help keep your future bright.

Fortunately, Detroit Edison customers have plenty of electric power available. Today, and many years into the future, it's a result of a lot of planning, development and investment and the fact that more than 84 percent of Detroit Edison's power is generated from coal, our nation's most abundant fuel. The balance is generated by other fossil fuels.

Looking far ahead, Detroit Edison is conducting research on other energy sources that may prove to be practical in our geographic area. While it may be some time before solar energy developments make possible economical applications for people's homes, the Jubilee Solar Home already will have begun to determine if the sun's energy may someday be a useful replacement for the oil and natural gas now used for heating so that these fuels may be saved for other uses where only they will do.

The Jubilee Solar Home looks like a traditional house. But if you walk around to the back you'll see the solar collectors on the roof. Heat from the sun is captured by the collectors, stored in the water, then distributed by air to heat the home. Solar-heated water also warms water for bathing, laundering and cleaning. Solar energy is expected to fulfill 20 to 30 percent of the space heating requirements and 80 to 90 percent of the water heating requirements.

On days when the sun doesn't shine or when more heat is needed, an energy-efficient heat pump moves the natural heat, always present in the outdoor air, inside the home. Electric elements provide additional heat as required. In warm weather, the heat pump reverses automatically for energy-efficient air conditioning.

The Jubilee Solar Home is exceptionally well insulated to keep heat inside in winter and to make air conditioning more efficient in summer. All doors and windows, and even the fireplace, are designed to be energy efficient.

When you visit the Jubilee Solar Home, be sure to examine some of the new ideas in electric appliances and lighting selected for energy efficiency, convenience and safety. And note the interior lighting and outdoor security lighting system, designed to use little electricity.

Detroit Edison's Jubilee Solar Home was built by Fred Greenspan Development Corporation in cooperation with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Keeping plenty of power in your hands.

Shopping for the bride-to-be?

Shower her with gifts—but make them practical

What to give the couple for the bridal shower has always been a problem. But, relax, you've got plenty of company; the bridal couple may be just as confused over selecting gifts for members of their own bridal party.

Here are some simple rules to remember when selecting a gift for a bridal shower:

1. Don't choose anything that has a color that might not go with the decor. Neutral colors should be used when selecting towels or table cloths, especially if you don't know the couple's color combinations.

2. Unless you definitely know what type of bed the couple has, don't select bed linens. Saying "they can always return them," is no reason for buying a sheet that fits a standard double bed when there are so many different types of beds on the market to select from—queen, king, convertible sofa or water beds.

3. Don't select anything that comes in sizes. Curtains, for example, make poor gifts. Even if you know the size of the window, you don't know the taste of the couple. You may prefer to see a light, airy cafe curtain. The bride may prefer a decorative shade.

4. Don't select a gift that can only be used by either the bride OR the groom. A decorative jewelry box, no matter how expensive, that was selected with the bride in mind, will only create problems. A marriage just starting out can do without "favoritism" in gifts.

5. Most shower gifts should be practical gifts, items that can be used frequently. Since most newlyweds don't have much to start with in the way of furnishings for their house or apartment, a set of pots would make a far better choice than a set of candle sticks. (More people return candle sticks than pots.)

6. Don't select holiday gifts such as Christmas figurines. Even if they are made of the finest imported china, if it has a holiday theme it will remain in the closet 50 weeks out of the year.

7. Selecting religious gifts such as crosses, a Mezuzah, Bibles, and in some cases, personalized church hymnals, is an area that should be avoided. Since the gift giver may understandably know one party better than the other, both of their attitudes toward religion or religious gifts are not known well enough to give such a personalized item.

8. Art should not be considered for showers as gifts. An abstract painting or fine reproduction, which may be very costly, would not fit well in an apartment with Early American furnishings.

9. If you wish to personalize a gift, make sure that you use the couple's given name or initials in place of nickname's such as Babs, Penny, Junior, etc.

Now that you know what "not to give," go ahead and select something that has proved to be ever-popular with brides over the years:

Send us your wedding information

Want to share that "special day" with those who are unable to be present in person for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines. The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the "start of it all." These forms include all the pertinent questions involved with your marriage or betrothal.

Forms may be picked up at our office, 116 Fourth St., Belleville (we're in the old Township Hall, side entrance) anytime during the week between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Beefed-up muffins fill breakfast bill

Are you one of the many who skip breakfast or maybe have a fast cup of coffee and run to catch the bus? Skimping on breakfast only cheats yourself out of the ability to perform at top efficiency in the morning. Shouldn't that be important to each of us, young or old. Research shows that eating breakfast improves both mental and physical performance.

Although breakfast is keyed to a faster beat today than in years past, it need not be less of a good thing. Speedy breakfasts can be satisfying. And the way to arouse morning appetites is to serve a variety of taste-tempting meals. The right kind of breakfast includes meat which helps to provide one-fourth to one-third of the days nutritional needs. Meat satisfies like no other food in the morning.

Beef can pack a lot into breakfast by providing high grade protein, iron and B vitamins. Beef is the "something different" that can make breakfast special. Here's a simple breakfast beef idea that can be made ahead and re-warmed in a hurry.

Beefed-Up Breakfast Muffins

1 pound ground beef
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
1/4 tsp. cumin
2 cups biscuit mix
1 egg, beaten
Two-thirds cup orange juice
1 tsp. grated orange peel

Lightly brown ground beef in frying pan. Remove meat to absorbent paper; pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt over meat. Stir soda and cumin into biscuit mix. Combine egg, orange juice and orange peel; add to biscuit mix and stir until just combined. Fold meat into batter. Place paper liners in 12 medium muffin cups and add 1/4 cup batter to each. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 12 muffins. Muffins can be stored in refrigerator for several days or in freezer for a longer period and reheated in conventional oven, toaster oven or microwave.

For additional breakfast ideas, write to: Beef for Breakfast,

Michigan Beef Industry Commission, 805 Stoddard Building, Lansing 48933.
